

The View from the Forbidden City

Mao's Foes Plotted His Death

Why China's rulers have torn their huge nation apart in so-called "cultural revolution" is explained by top Chinese leaders in their first interviews in two years. They disclose sensational charges of a plot to kill Mao Tse-tung — linked with efforts to turn China to more flexible relations toward Russia and the U.S. This is Simon Malley's first exclusive article from inside Peking's Forbidden City.

Enemies of Mao Tse-tung plotted to eliminate him last year, by assassination if necessary, top allies of the Chinese Communist party chief told me in Peking, in the first interviews they have given in two years.

In a China where the 73-year-old "father of the nation" is revered as a fount of supreme wisdom, the accusation carries the emotional force of a plot to murder a god.

The alleged plot was described to me by Chen Po-ta, top confidante of Mao, who now presides over the "cultural revolution" campaign to disgrace Mao's enemies and immortalize his tough-minded policies.

Chen Po-ta's account was seconded by Hsieh Fu-chi, minister of interior (police and security). Like other top Chinese leaders, they broke the long standing news blackout to receive me in their offices inside the walled, Forbidden City of Peking.

Speaking as leading supporters of Mao in the internal struggle, they told me that Stalin's enemies "probably murdered" the Soviet leader, and that they think Mao would be rivals for power in China planned the same fate for him.

The overthrow was scheduled for February, 1956, on the 10th anniversary of Soviet ex-Premier Nikita Khrushchev's historic denunciation of Stalin. Chen Po-ta said.

Recalling that no one in Russia dared challenge Stalin while he lived, the quiet-spoken, deliberate Chen Po-ta drew a direct parallel to Mao's China.

'Great Leap' Ridiculed

"Likewise," said Chen Po-ta, "the plot in China developed along the same line, with the same intentions. The traitors could not succeed as long as Mao Tse-tung remained the 'red sun shining most brightly in our hearts' and guiding our revolution."

Mao's allies accuse China's President Liu Shao-chi of plotting the overthrow, together with Teng Hsiao-peng, secretary general of the Communist Party, and Peng Chen, ex-mayor of Peking.

At stake, they told me, was not only China's internal program as an all-out rigid Communist state, but also China's active pursuit of eventual world revolution.

(The once-honored Liu, an old comrade of Mao, favored different tactics on the road to the goal all shared — to build a powerful China.)

Chen said the plotters used plays, films, legends and fables to ridicule Mao Tse-tung and especially his all-out economic effort known as the Great Leap Forward.

Legendary stories about ancient China were told to sell the idea that "the Leap Forward was a total economic disaster because it was based on economic improvisation... devised by leaders who were amnesia, fools or imbeciles."

Chen said.

When they had discredited and ousted Mao Tse-tung, the plotters planned to install Peng Chen as party chairman. They intended to retire Prime Minister Chou En-lai and replace him with Teng Hsiao-peng.

Posters Replace Rioting

From AP-Reuters

HONG KONG — Eight hundred Chinese marched on the British government house in Hong Kong today and plastered posters on its walls and gates while singing Communist Chinese songs and chanting quotations of Mao Tse-tung.

Police and military sentries maintained guard at the gate and inside the courtyard. Police tried to dissuade the demonstrators from putting up their posters, but there were no clashes.

The demonstrators started putting up the posters after the British colonial governor, Sir David Trench, did not personally accept their protests of what they called persecution of Hong Kong's Chinese.

FOURTH DAY
Anti-British demonstrations continued in Peking for the fourth straight day in support of the anti-British Chinese in Hong Kong.

Demonstrators paraded outside the British legation in the Chinese capital and an official of the legation, reached by telephone from Tokyo, said there was no attempt to invade the grounds. He said Chinese police kept watch at the legation.

Britain protested Tuesday the failure of the Chinese government to protect British personnel and property in Peking and Shanghai against demonstrators. The British consular offices in Shanghai were asked to be on guard.

100 INJURED
On Wednesday, 50 police and as many rioters and spectators had been injured here.

Meanwhile, hordes of Chinese chanting anti-British slogans marched past the British mission in Peking Wednesday in a fresh protest against the handling of the Hong Kong riots.

Anthony Grey, Reuters news agency correspondent in the Chinese capital, said the numbers seemed even greater than the 400,000 who marched past the mission Tuesday. He said the total appeared likely to reach 1,000,000 by the end of the day.

OAKWOOD, Va. (UPI)—Three miners were killed and another injured early today when tons of coal and slate came crashing down deep inside a mountain coal mine.

The eight other men who were in the mine at the time were working a different section of the shaft and were not injured.

Second Sick Child, Mother in Hiding

VANCOUVER (CP) — A second Jehovah's Witness youngster requiring treatment that may involve blood transfusions has gone into hiding with his mother, resulting in fears by welfare officials that there could be a panic among parents in the religious sect.

Gregory Gordon Standal, 5, was taken from hospital in neighboring North Vancouver Saturday by his mother, Frances Standal, a 26-year-old divorcee.

Gordon is suffering a kidney ailment similar to that of Miriam Myllynen, 15, who died in hospital in Vancouver May 9 to avoid further blood transfusions.

DENIED CARE
Donald Blingham, provincial superintendent of child welfare, said in an interview Wednesday that current panic among Jehovah's Witnesses could lead to all the sect's children being denied medical care.

He said such a move could result in lesser illnesses becoming serious.

"Something must be done to halt what is becoming a serious tragedy," he said.

WONT TAKE CHANCE
Mrs. Standal said she wants her son to get the care he needs but "I dare not take a chance on hospitals here and my losing custody because the doctors want to give him a transfusion."

She was referring to a family court decision last Friday that awarded custody of Miriam to the Children's Aid Society to ensure she would get treatment. Dorothy Myllynen of Penikese, Miriam's mother, had applied to the court for custody of her child.

COULD ADVANCE
In Miriam's case, doctors said her condition could be fatal if she is not treated within a month for the ailment known as uremia. Doctors said Gordon may lose one kidney and that infection may advance to the other if he is not treated within a week.

Miriam is believed in hiding with her mother while Mrs. Standal said she still remains in hiding with her son until she can arrange treatment with other doctors or outside the province.

"I will go to any end to keep him out of hospital here," she said in an interview just before going into hiding.

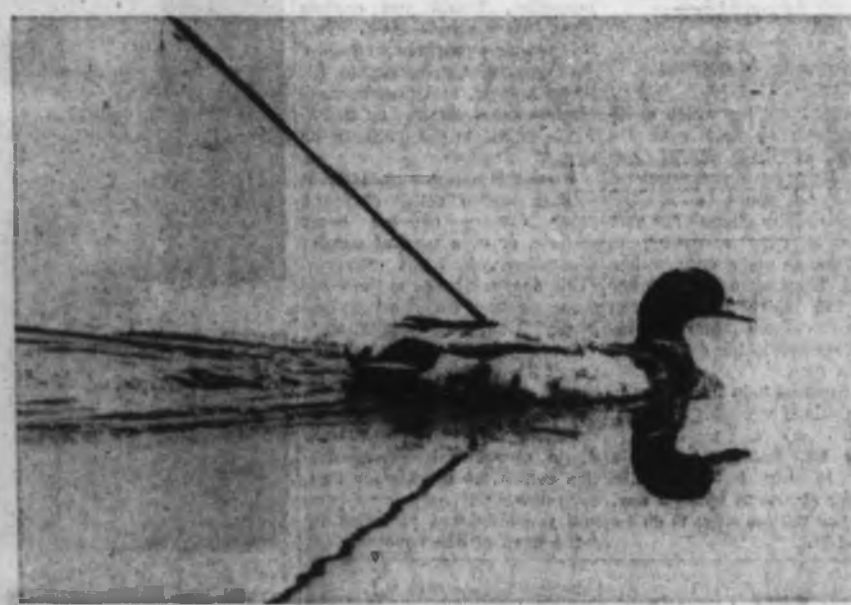

Meanwhile, police reported no new leads or clues Wednesday in their search for Miriam and her mother, despite a cross-Canada alert to RCMP.

AT HOME
In a telephone interview from Toronto, Glen How, lawyer for the Jehovah's Witnesses in Canada, said he has advised the sect's 7,000 B.C. members that it would be unwise for them to allow their children to enter hospital.

He said he advised pregnant members to have their babies at home and if necessary to take their sick outside the province for treatment to escape the Protection of Children Act which allows a child to be apprehended and held for seven days without a warrant.

Store Clerk Shot Dead

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Eng (Bong, mother of three, was fatally shot during an apparent holdup Wednesday at a grocery store where she worked. Her body was found in a passage between the store and its rear living quarters by two boys.

ARAB FORCES BATTLE-READY

UN Troops 'Won't Budge'

OTTAWA (CP)—The United Nations Emergency Force in Egypt will not budge from its present positions, a highly placed source said Wednesday.

The source said it would be foolish for the force to give in after more than 10 years of keeping the peace on the Israeli-Egyptian border.

CAIRO (Reuters)—Tension rose throughout the Middle East today as the United Arab Republic and two other Arab countries put their armed forces on combat readiness for possible clashes with Israel.

The U.A.R. ordered land, sea and air forces into a state of "fighting preparedness" and at the same time Wednesday asked the United Nations to pull back its peacekeeping force from the U.A.R.-Israeli frontier to clear the way for possible fighting.

At the UN in New York, UN Secretary-General U Thant said that if Egypt demanded the withdrawal of the UN force it would have to leave. He described the situation as "potentially very grave" and said he was seeking clarification of the U.A.R.'s attitude towards the UN force. (See also page 23)

TRIP CANCELLED

Thant cancelled a trip to London and Brussels because of what he called "the potentially very grave" situation in the Middle East.

Canada has 800 men in the UN Emergency Force which has operated in the U.A.R. near the Israeli border for 10 years. There are contingency plans for fast evacuation of the Canadians on UN duty in the Middle East in an emergency.

The Associated Press reported from Cairo that today's edition of the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram says the Yugoslav contingent of the UN force moved out early Wednesday. In New York, a UN headquarters official said there had been no withdrawal of any UN forces from the armistice line up to late Wednesday afternoon, New York time.

DANGEROUS

Meanwhile, it was announced in Israel that Premier Levi Eshkol discussed the "dangerous significance" of the Arab buildup during a meeting of Parliament's foreign affairs and security committee. Except for this announcement.

Radvanyi

Hungary Envoy Defects

WASHINGTON (UPI)—János Radvanyi, Hungary's ranking diplomat in the U.S., has asked and will be granted asylum in the United States, the state department announced Wednesday.

Radvanyi, 45, Hungary's charge d'affaires here since 1962, is the first chief of a Communist diplomatic mission in this country to defect.

State department press officer Robert McCloskey said Radvanyi decided he wanted to become a permanent resident of the United States.

IT'S TRADITIONAL

"Our position will be in accordance with the American tradition of extending refuge to those who seek it," McCloskey said. State department sources said Radvanyi had defected for "personal as well as political reasons," but did not elaborate.

Radvanyi could not be reached for comment. An official at the Hungarian embassy said he was not there.

As Hungary's ranking diplomatic official in this country, and as a member of Hungary's foreign service since 1947 and a member of the Hungarian Communist party for some 25 years, Radvanyi presumably has a wealth of information of interest on Hungary's internal affairs and foreign relations.

Nothing's Plain About Montcalm

By ALAN HARVEY

PARIS (Special) — A latter-day Montcalm is heading for Canada, bent on peaceful conquest.

He is Charles, Marquis de Montcalm, seventh in direct descent from the famous General who fought and died on the Plains of Abraham. A Paris financier, he has heard about Canada's Centennial celebrations and plans a tourist trip this summer. His brother, Count Robert, is going separately.

'Too Sleepy?'

The marquis will visit Quebec City, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and probably Niagara Falls. Meanwhile, expert restorers at Versailles are refurbishing priceless Montcalm relics for display in Canada, and the marquis asks what Toronto is doing to compete with Montreal.

"Is Toronto too sleepy?" he inquires playfully. "What are you going to do to compare with Expo? Why have you let yourselves be short-circuited by Montreal?"

In the same lighthearted way, the marquis offers a challenge to Canadian womanhood. A wealthy bachelor, with a chateau in the south of France and a household of history stowed away at his Paris apartment on the Avenue Rodin, he hopes to pick out a "jolie petite Candide" during his trip.

Finding a wife, he says, is indispensable.

The marquis is slender, dark and dapper. He is reticent about age and occupation, but looks about 45 and dabbles in business and finance. He speaks vivaciously, darting quick glances around him. Seen in profile, sitting at ease in a Paris hotel lobby, he might easily turn back the clock and the centuries, reminding the impressionable interviewer of Canadian history's most gallant loser, the proud and polished aristocrat, incorruptibly devoted to Crown and country, who commanded French armies in a battle that decided the mastery of a continent.

Hardly Dull

Canada's past is often dismissed as dull. Surely there are few figures of romance more compelling than the mercurial Montcalm, sighing for the olive groves of his native Provence, and his Eng-

Rebel Gordon Mulling Martyr's Role

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Vietnam rebel Walter Gordon is pondering if he can stay in the cabinet after Wednesday's humiliation at the hands of both the cabinet and the party caucus.

"He may be in the mood to make a martyr of himself," a party source said Wednesday night.

But the general feeling was that there is no limit to the number of rebuffs that Mr. Gordon can absorb and that he will hold on and fight.

Mr. Gordon, faced with his great decision, went to Expo in Montreal to get lost in the crowds and to think about it.

Prime Minister Pearson warned him twice, first at the cabinet and then in the caucus, that if he didn't agree with government policy he must quit.

It was spelled out, too, that if he disagreed publicly again he would be out of the cabinet, period.

The cabinet rebuff was easier for Mr. Gordon to swallow than the rebuff given him at the caucus.

Mr. Pearson, with Mr. Gordon present, told the rank-and-file of the party that the rebel minister must go along with policy or quit.

Mr. Gordon, according to reports, paled, but did not say anything in his defence.

Member after member rose and complained about the difficulties he had created in his policy split with the cabinet.

This was the issue, cabinet solidarity, not the war in Vietnam, which is loathed with equal intensity by most members of the cabinet and the caucus.

The caucus was Mr. Gordon's traditional source of strength. But this time no one rose to defend him.

Mr. Gordon was called

How Would One Stuff a Prince?

ROYAL GAMBIT: An odd letter arrived by mail this week. The contents of the note from Bernard Selkirk were not an bizarre, but his letterhead is startling.

Mr. Selkirk describes himself as a "collector of Royalty."

While trying to make a phone connection with this most enterprising of collectors, my mind ran wild. What type of home must this gentleman have? How does he mount his collection?

Does he have the Archduke Ferdinand stuffed and standing in his hallway, or the Empress Josephine staring regal and glassy-eyed on the front porch? No such luck.

Mr. Selkirk, a native of Holland, collects pictures, posters, newspapers and all types of printed material relating to royalty of all nations.

His collection includes items from Sweden, Britain, Holland, Belgium and Norway. In an effort to expand his collection, Mr. Selkirk writes embassies around the world for material.

Anyone with items of interest can reach him at 382-3514.

VISITORS COMING: Residents of Port Angeles are planning an invasion of Commercial Square some 500 strong, June 3.

The hands-across-the-sea gesture will include a stage band, a pop choir, a concert band and an orchestra, all from Port Angeles senior high school.

The bands will form up on the lawn of the legislative buildings and march to Commercial Square for two concerts.

A bevy of civic warblers will trade the usual good wishes with the Mayor of Port Angeles.

A group of private powerboats and a platoon of water skiers will invade the Inner Harbor, while the U.S. Coast Guard stages a fly-past.

The whole project is under the care and custody of Jerry Gossley.

NEW MATERIAL: Ted Gaskrell and Bebe Everfield are busy dressing up fresh material for the Smale Show.

Miss Everfield hopes to come up with some new dance routines to give the action a lift.

Comedian Bebe Ellis will use a suit based on the problems of health clubs and weight-reducing salons. Rehearsals are in full swing this week.

BURY AN ISSUE: Now that the development on the south side of the Inner Harbor seems to be going ahead, it's a safe bet that Charles White's business rivals will be planning to oppose the project.

The idea of a $2,500,000 motel and shopping centre is just too much for some of his competitors, so they will probably do some committee infighting. Chances are Mr. White will win.

LONG TIME: City soprano Erika Kurth is commencing CBC Vancouver for recording sessions. She will be heard in late July in a radio program of songs to include works by Dvorak and Spohr.

Mrs. Kurth will sing the Dvorak biblical songs and the Spohr songs for soprano with clarinet and piano. Ronald de Kane is clarinetist and Hugh McLean the pianist.

PRINT PROBLEM: When Carlini invented the printing press he had no idea just what a mess he was getting the world into.

Now the American Library Association has commissioned the Mansel Information Publishing Company of London to put out a catalogue in book form of every book and its author. This involves every title published in the Western world, some 12,750,000 items.

The giant catalogue will be in 610 volumes, covering material published up to 1952. The present catalogue is on cards in the U.S. Library of Congress. It runs to 16,000,000 cards in 8,000 filing drawers, and occupies an area equal to half a football field. So much for statistics.

ment, the Israeli government has kept silent on the state of requests from Arab countries relating to troop movements, high-level military consultations and emergency measures.

Because of the glaring publicity given the buildup, observers in Israel viewed the buildup as more in the nature of a political manoeuvre than a military one.

STANDING BY

Syria and Jordan announced that their armed forces were standing by in readiness for a possible Israeli attack. An official statement from Damascus said Syrian forces were in a state of complete preparedness, supported by units of the paramilitary "popular army."

In Amman, it was announced that Jordanian armed forces were in a state of alert.

Baghdad radio said Iraq has declared its official support for the Syrian people.

ISRAELI WARNING

The Middle East developments came after Israeli warnings that it would hit back sternly if Syria allowed Arab commandos to continue to operate against Israeli territory.

The U.A.R., which has a mutual defence pact with Syria, was criticized by some Arab states in the past for not coming quickly to the aid of Syria and Jordan in previous clashes with Israel.

The Palestine Liberation Army and Palestinians in the Gaza Strip were also put on the alert against Israel, Ahmed Shukairy, chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, said in Cairo.

VISIT CANCELLED

In New York, Thant cancelled planned visits to London and Brussels during the next few days because of the situation. In his statement, issued by a UN spokesman, Thant said he asked the U.A.R. chief delegate, Mohamed el-Kory, for clarification of his government's position.

The U.A.R. asked the UN to withdraw its peacekeeping forces from the 117-mile international frontier between the U.A.R. and Israel and concentrate them in the Gaza Strip, an oblong of territory flanking the Mediterranean between the U.A.R. and Israel which the U.A.R. occupied after the Israeli-Arab war of 1948-49.

The Chinese posted such slogans as "British imperialism get out of Hong Kong" on Peking streets and gave indications that the home of Donald Hopson, British charge d'affaires, would be under siege for some days.

In London the government declared its full support for its authorities in Hong Kong and gave what it said were the full facts of the trouble.

A Peking broadcast monitored in Tokyo announced the establishment of a joint struggle committee to oppose what it called the Hong Kong authorities' "fascist suppression" of Chinese in the colony.

The broadcast said the committee of more than 100 Hong Kong Chinese "under the auspices of Chinese trade unions in Hong Kong" would continue to fight the authorities.

IMPOSE CURFEW

Police imposed a 7 p.m.-to-4 a.m. curfew on most of Kowloon, on the mainland across from Hong Kong Island. More than 3,500 police were moved into the district, another 2,000 police and 6,000 British troops were put on the alert.

During the demonstrations Wednesday there were times when police attempting to keep the rioters out of the main hotel and shopping streets for tourists had to flee in the face of the rioters' superior numbers.

Police used tear gas and wooden batons to battle at least three separate mobs. But the rioters stoned police and firemen and pushed into the business district.

As night drew near, police lines pulled back and the mobs headed into the tourist district.

Mass Strike Paralyzes France

PARIS (Reuters)—More than 10,000,000 workers paralyzing France Wednesday with a 24-hour strike protesting government policy. It was the biggest strike in 30 years.

Public transport in towns was almost at a standstill. Electricity was cut and gas-pressure and water supplies dwindled.

Too Much Cough Medication Brings Sleepy Complication

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: If a person has 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

He is sleeping all the time. Has this anything to do with it? He doesn't have a chronic cough. He says he takes it for the sinus. Can he become an addict?—F.F.

Your last five words hit the nail on the head. That particular cough remedy contains codeine, a derivative of morphine.

At the rate he is swallowing the stuff, there is little question that he already has become addicted, and I seriously doubt that he will shed this addiction without some help from a physician.

pressures involving which medications can be sold over the counter at drug stores and which must have prescriptions.

The syrup you mention (and there are many others) are safe enough if used according to instructions and only when needed. They become dangerous when the instructions are not followed—and someone becomes hooked to the extent of a bottle a day.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a sound in my left ear like scoping steam. 34 hours a day. Could you tell me what to do for it?—J.J.M.

There are multiple causes, some curable, some not.

Dear Dr. Molner: The doctor said my father passed away from acute myocardial decompensation. Would you explain what that means?—MRS. F.F.

It means sudden heart failure—myocardial infarction to the heart muscle, and decompensation meaning failure, or inability to adjust to the demands on it.

When this happens abruptly, it usually is the result of some prior disease of the heart muscle, or of a type of sudden disruption of heart rhythm. (This does not apply to the common variety of disturbed rhythm involving skips or palpitation.)

Some heart disorders may result in a congestive type of heart failure which is slow enough at its onset to allow time for corrective treatment.

Acute myocardial decompensation comes too quickly for that, even though it may have been and probably was preceded by some form of heart disease.

U.K. Refuses 'No' Answer

LONDON (UPI) — Britain won't take "no" for an answer in her bid to enter the Common Market, Prime Minister Wilson said Wednesday night.

Wilson told Britain's top businessmen at a dinner here the government was determined to make the negotiations a success.

His speech came a day after French President de Gaulle struck at the British bid by saying Britain was not yet ready to join the Six.

Wilson said he did not wish to prejudice the crucial negotiations on Britain's application to join the European economic community.

TWO FEATURES

"I would just remind you of two basic features of our position.

"First at the beginning of the year, I said that we should not take 'no' for an answer. That remains our position.

"Second, we are determined not only to make these negotiations a success, but to carry them forward as quickly as lies in our power."

ONLY TO GAIN

Wilson said: "British industry stands only to gain by entering wholeheartedly into everything that the entry into Europe would mean for Britain.

Wilson said: "The interests of all of us in Europe requires that we should make speedy progress."

"We must — all of us — know before many months are up exactly where we stand."

He said political and industrial change was a necessary condition of progress.

"Of course a large market in itself is not enough," he said.

"We are going to have to be prepared for change and British industry should be gearing itself now for entry into a wider market."

Informed sources said earlier Wilson was determined not to let himself be guided into a public wrangle with de Gaulle at this stage.

De Gaulle

Dutch Critic:

Statement Was New

OTTAWA (CP)—Foreign Minister Luns of The Netherlands promised Wednesday to give a press conference the "usual evasive answers" and then:

● Chastised President de Gaulle of France for his statement on Britain's application for entry into the European Common Market;

● Disclosed the U.S. and Britain originally intended to reduce their forces in Europe by more than the announced 40,000 men;

● Said his country is dissatisfied with its "antidote" to the "viral" air agreement with Canada.

● Announced The Netherlands will soon send a group of military officers to Canada for technical studies on management of United Nations peace-keeping forces.

Mr. Luns, a companion of Queen Juliana on her state visit to Canada, talked with Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin before meeting reporters.

He said it was difficult to comment on de Gaulle's statement because of the way the French president conducts foreign policy.

COMMENT DIFFICULT He said de Gaulle should have made his statement in a "less flamboyant way." What de Gaulle said was new to his Common Market partners, which include The Netherlands, Mr. Luns added.

He hoped the British application would be dealt with on its merits by the full council of the Common Market and not just by the six governments concerned.

END HOPED Mr. Luns said he hopes American and British troops cuts in Europe—$5,000 by the U.S. and 5,000 by Britain—will be "the end of it."

He said West Germany is not happy about the reductions and The Netherlands is not "shouting with joy" either.

De Gaulle Seeks Support for View

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle expects at least West Germany and Italy will share the gloomy view he gave Tuesday of British suitability for membership in the European Common Market, sources close to the French leader said Wednesday.

The sources said de Gaulle would go to a summit conference of the Common Market in Rome May 29 planning a determined effort to persuade the other members—West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—that Britain is not yet ready to assume the obligation of the European community.

WON'T OPPOSE

But they said de Gaulle is unlikely to oppose the opening of negotiations with Britain or to try to persuade other members that the negotiations would be useless.

And officials here said it is a distortion to see de Gaulle's remarks at a press conference Tuesday as a bar to British membership in the Common Market.

But the presidential sources said de Gaulle hopes to strengthen the determination of other members to prevent the essential position of the Common Market being changed by Britain's application.

They said de Gaulle's remark Tuesday that there never has been a veto against Britain and there would not be one in the future means that France would not exercise an undisguised veto on negotiations later this year.

They said de Gaulle's 28-man cabinet is "united," but there are important shades of differences inside it.

At a meeting this month some ministers took the view that whatever the effects British membership might have it would be wiser all around to have Britain in the Common Market.

But at least 20 of the ministers took the same view as the president.

Pacific Isle Tribesmen Send Petitioners on Bewildering Visit to London

It Took Them 40 Years to Save the Fare

By PETA DESCHAPNEUX
from London

Representatives of a Pacific Island race — the Banabans — Rotan Tito and his son, the Rev. Tebuke Rotan, have arrived in London.

It took them 40 years to get here.

Natives of Ocean Island, a British dependency in the Pacific, the Banabans have been saving the fare and expenses, now about $8,500, to send a special mission to London to try to keep their tiny group of people together.

As only one Banaban has ever been to England before, it was all a bit bewildering. Armed with the money that their 2,000 tribesmen had saved for them, Tito, 67, and his son started five weeks ago on their 14,000-mile journey. When they got to Fiji, they saw a paved airfield, a native shorts for western suits, shirts and ties.

The Banabans have had one asset that has been greatly in demand — phosphate. In 1913 they received about six cents a ton in royalties. In 1927 a visitor to their island said they should be getting far more and they decided to make a personal appeal in London.

In 1947, on the advice of the British government, the Banabans moved to the tiny Fijian island of Rabi, measuring seven miles by five. Royalties from phosphate went up a little over the years and when the Banabans' share reached nearly $8 cents a ton last year, their savings reached the required $8,500.

In 12 years the phosphate deposits, and so the almost sole means of the islanders' livelihood, will be exhausted.

That is why Tito, who speaks only Banabinese, and his son are to tell Herbert Bowden, commonwealth secretary: "Only you can save our race. If you don't help, we shall have to scatter to different islands to seek work."

They will point out that phosphate is fetching about $5.90 a ton, of which the Gilbert and Ellice Islands are receiving about $4.90 in royalties.

They will plead with Bowden to let them have a minimum of half the available benefits, about $3 a ton. If the British — who they insist are wonderful, especially your Buckingham Palace — help them, they will build more roads, more houses, more schools — schooling now ends at 13 — breed more cattle and cut more coconuts.

Everyone is so excited in Rabi that work will practically stop until the return of Tito, who has been chairman of the people's council for 20 years, and Rotan, who in addition to being a Methodist minister is manager of the council.

"How can we go back and tell them, when they have been saving this money for 40 years, that we will die as a race," asked Rotan. "If we do not get our money I would rather jump in the water than go home to face my people."

"I think the difficulty is that your people know very little about our problems. We only have three visitors a year at the most to our island and only my brother has ever been to England before from our race."

Mao's Foes Plotted His Murder

Defence Minister Lin Biao owes to be replaced by Lo Jui-chih, former army chief of staff, I was told.

This was the partisan account of the anti-Liu faction. Did it simply hide a struggle for power to lead 750,000,000 Chinese? My talks with Chinese leaders, with followers of both factions, and with longtime foreign residents in China pointed to deeper causes.

Prime Minister Chou En-lai spelled it out for me during our two-and-one-half-hour interview:

"To understand what really is going on in China today, you must accept the premise that we consider the Soviet Union, under its present leadership, is no longer a red power," he said waving a long slender finger.

"What we want to do here is to make certain that China remains red."

An Chou En-lai uses the word, "red" means dedicated to revolutionary policies such as support of revolutionary wars abroad, the Great Leap Forward, and the communes for peasants installed by Mao in 1958, my informant explained.

But, after the failure of the Great Leap, Mao Tse-tung was replaced as president in 1959 by Liu, who now is accused of reverting to permitting individual farming, private plots and increased numbers of small enterprises.

Split Over Soviet Help

In 1968, after regaining control of the Communist Party central committee and politburo, Mao and his followers revised these policies as "bourgeois, capitalist, revisionist." They drew uncompromising parallels with Khrushchev's similar "revisionist" policies in Russia.

In foreign policy, the anti-Mao forces were charged with favoring "co-existence" — the policy of getting along first with Russia and eventually with the United States.

Hong Kong Weathers Riots

By ROBERT S. ELEGANT
From Hong Kong

By the standards of Asian rioting, the current disorders here are far from impressive — especially in terms of the response which Peking might have expected.

The adolescent Chinese rioters, fairly quiet for three days, returned to the fray Wednesday in a new section of the troubled Kowloon area on the mainland opposite Hong Kong Island.

As many as 3,000 rioters turned out at the height of the demonstrations, but 900 policemen contained the demonstrators. According to one report, 28 policemen and 10 demonstrators were injured.

The demonstrations began after 20 rioters arrested earlier and released on bail failed to appear for continuation of their trial.

Only a few blocks from the rioting, tourists in sturdy sport shirts shopped for bargains, and Hong Kong Island wore its normally busy and commercially preoccupied face.

The crown colony was still by no means a city under siege.

With substantial segments of the Chinese population — capital, labor, students, and the middle-class — making public declarations of their loyalty to British rule, it was quite different from, for example, Singapore during the great riots of 12 and 13 years ago.

At that time, in that other crown colony, then on the verge of abrupt independence, streets were deserted except for police and sullen adolescents. Europeans or Americans were harangued, insulted and attacked.

Themselves rent by the dissemination of Communist China's great proletarian cultural revolution, Hong Kong's leftists were, for all their ardor, not quite sure where they stood.

Expecting no direct assistance from Communist China, some confided that they had no intention of escalating the disturbances into a crisis beyond their power to control.

The Communist apparatus in Hong Kong was long dominated by Tao Chu, the Chinese Communist Party's first secretary for the South China region, who broke decisively with the extremist clique of Mao Tse-tung and vice-chairman of the Communist Party Lin Biao last December.

Tao's followers in Hong Kong Wednesday were torn between the desire to prove their revolutionary ardor to Peking and the fear that anything they accomplished in the way of intimidating the British would, in the long run, be used against them.

The British government in London did not reply Wednesday to Peking's veiled "statement" embodying a list of five unacceptable demands. Instead, Whitehall protested to Peking over the mistreatment of British diplomats in China itself.

Suspicious Over Lone Role

Europe Disenchanted With U.K. on Tariffs

By HAROLD MORRISON from London

Britain may have missed the Common Market but at an important station where Europe needed and sought her help and did not get it.

Instead of co-operating, Britain and Europe were often in conflict in the Kennedy round of world tariff bargaining where the six-nation Common Market showed its power to crack some of the historic barriers imposed by the United States.

Some European negotiators said Britain did little to help squeeze a large package of reductions on chemicals from the U.S. They said the package might have been bigger if they had full British support.

British officials said they knew how far the Americans could be pushed and, in fact, the final package was the exact size Britain had anticipated.

While British negotiators may have been more knowledgeable about the U.S. position it could have been better tactics to proclaim full support for the Europeans. That would have removed suspicions that Britain was playing a lone game.

Distrust of some Europeans for British policy increased when the Common Market proposed steel-tariff reductions greater than Britain would accept.

The dispute raised two points: That Britain was not really ready to make concessions to Europe and that if she could not afford to negotiate big cuts on steel, how could she hope to compete if she became a full market member and had to submit to free trade?

British officials countered that Britain will be ready to negotiate full tariff reductions when market negotiations actually began — and not before.

In the Kennedy round Britain had to think in terms of her own national interests and to negotiate to her national advantage.

There was no use trying to get on the European bus unless Britain was sure she would not be thrown off.

To the Europeans, the difference in tactics if not in intentions may have strengthened convictions that British motives must be suspect. Moreover it may have increased a hunch that major parts of the British economy are not competitive and that Britain really fears the onslaught of a full free-trade hurricane.

Police empty Texas Southern dormitories after pitched gunfight

King Fears Dark Summer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King said Wednesday he feared "a very dark summer" of racial rioting throughout the U.S. because the causes of Negro despair have not been alleviated.

"I am afraid we will have a long, hot summer of riots because our long, cold winter was not used constructively to build the opportunity and jobs that could prevent rioting," he said.

King said that, while he understood the frustration and despair that led to riots, the chief result of a Negro policy of violence would be "an endless reign of meaningless suicide," he said.

City Didn't Listen

Professor Warned Riots Were Coming

HOUSTON (UPI) — A political science professor at Texas Southern University Wednesday said students on his campus can't tell the difference between a Communist and a civil rights worker.

"We made no effort to educate our students on civil rights. Most of our students couldn't tell a civil rights worker from a Communist straight from a Bolshevik with Russia," Dr. George Robinson said. Robinson is one of three HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The campus of Texas Southern University, which turned into a battleground Wednesday between students and police, with one law officer killed and dozens of others injured, was a scene of chaos and destruction.

Police said more than 3,000 rounds of ammunition were fired before authorities got control. While police questioned 68 students arrested during the four-hour dormitory siege, city and school officials sought to discover what led to an outbreak Mayor Louis Welch said amounted to anarchy.

Patrolman Lewis R. Kuba was shot between the eyes as he crouched on the terrace of the Student Union building during an assault with some 100 fellow policemen on the dormitory from which students were firing guns and hurling crude fire bombs.

Kuba, 25, died about 7 1/2 hours later without recovering consciousness. His wife is expecting their first child and the couple had moved into a new home only Tuesday.

TOTAL BREAKDOWN

While police questioned the students jamming every available city and county cell, trying to pinpoint the gunmen, Welch met with Police Chief Herman Short, the district attorney and the school administration.

Afterwards, Welch said he found a total breakdown of communication between students and administration at the 7,000-student school.

"When that happens, you have anarchy, and that's what we had," Welch said, promising a full report to Texas Governor John Connally. TSU is a state-supported school.

HEAVY DAY

Tuesday had been an unusually heavy day of protest actions in Houston. A total of 64 arrests were made in separate demonstrations at a city dump Negroes want closed and at a suburban junior high school where a 14 white and Negro students were expelled for fighting.

A student seeking reinforcements for the dump protest drew a crowd of some 125 on campus Tuesday night and during his speech, the car of four watching policemen was pelted with a watermelon.

When the officers got out, the crowd evaporated, except for 21-year-old Wayne Walter, who police said carried a pistol. He was arrested and the patrol continued along them — empty Wheeler Avenue, the major thoroughfare through the campus.

ONE WOUNDED

As the patrol car passed the U-shaped complex of men's dormitories, it was struck by rocks and bottles.

Texas Policeman Kills Negro

FORT WORTH (UPI) — A Fort Worth policeman killed a Negro man and wounded a Negro woman who had attacked him early Wednesday. Other police arrived just as a group of about 50 other Negroes were advancing on the patrolman.

Police said Patrolman A. J. Tiroff was forced to shoot the man, Earl Gratts, 26, after Gratts had twice fired at Tiroff at almost point-blank range.

The woman, Alma Richardson, 25, was wounded after joining in the attack. During the struggle, Tiroff was knocked out.

CROWD GATHERS

A crowd of Negroes gathered just as other police arrived to answer a Mayday call put out by Tiroff. They quickly dispersed the mob, and rushed Tiroff to a hospital, where he was treated for powder burns on his face.

Tiroff said he was on his way to check out an alarm in a liquor store. He said as he and the owner of the store were about to shut off the alarm, he heard gunfire, and saw Miss Richardson running with a pistol.

He ordered her to give him the gun, but she threw it between the rear wheels of a large truck. As he stooped to pick it up, Tiroff said Gratts suddenly appeared and shot at him.

Although one of the two shots had wounded Miss Richardson, Tiroff said she continued to help the two then struggled. The fight with him, knocking him to the curb.

He said when he awoke, the woman was hitting him and biting him on the stomach. He pushed her aside and went to the car and sent a Mayday for help.

Further Riots Feared

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (UPI) — Law enforcement officers braced Wednesday for a possible third consecutive night of demonstrations by Platteville State University students disenchanted with school policies and a legal barrier to beer drinking.

Police Chief Clay Miller wanted help from the National Guard. It was declined but surrounding counties offered aid.

FIREMEN HURT

Four firemen, including Chief Corwin Bishop, were injured. Sheriff Roy Graney and several deputies were mauled. Graney was the most seriously hurt.

Four students were arrested and suspended from Platteville. Rjorne Ulevik, president of the university, later wrote a personal cheque for $815 to bail them out and rescinded the suspension.

COURT ACTION

The university said the four would have to face court action and a hearing by the student discipline board. Three are charged with disorderly conduct and the fourth faces a more serious charge of hurling a homemade explosive at a fire truck.

Ulevik called off classes and brought the student body together for a meeting at which he expressed the hope differences could be resolved without further demonstrations.

Montcalm Returns

His opponent General James Wolfe, assumed with illness but dedicated to victory with the "thin red line" that made his first appearance on a battlefield at Quebec. "They were two great personages of history," said the Marquis. "They were gentlemen of honor and integrity, deeply attached to the glory of the throne."

The Marquis shuns politics. He declined to be photographed and expressed dislike of sensational newspaper articles. The impression emerged that the Montcalm family prefers the past; it would not be surprising if it declined to recognize the government of President Charles de Gaulle or, for that matter, anything that has happened since the French Revolution dealt so harshly with the aristocracy.

But the Montcalms have responded generously to Canada's Centennial call. They offered to display everything remaining of the first Marquis, including the battle dress he wore on Sept. 13, 1759. Traces of shot can be seen on the armor.

Expo-Bound

Other treasures, now on the way to Canada or sent to go, include the altar stone on which the General celebrated mass during the Canadian campaign, a sedan chair bearing the coat of arms of the Montcalm and Levis families, paintings and letters. The exhibits are to go to Expo '67, galleries and a pageant.

The carefully preserved letters will show people worried about living costs, even in the 18th century. "I am running into debt here," the General wrote to his mother from Quebec City, which he ranked with the best cities of France — except for 10 or so.

"Pshaw! I must live," he added. "I do not worry."

He yearned for the family chateau at Candiac in sunny southern France. "Oh! When will I get out of this country? I think I would give half that I have to get home." He wrote, in neat, distinctive hand, of how neatly Indians would take off your scalp — an operation, he added drily, that "generally kills you."

No Time

He described the ladies of New France as gallant, devout and witty (spiritualists) but assured his mother he had no time for dalliance.

Two centuries later, his Canada-bound ancestor has no martial or martial quanta. If the seventh Marquis is serious about looking for a pretty little Canadian girl, the Montcalm story would have a pastscript surpassing its own romantic beginnings.

spent force" by one caucus member.

Everyone wants him to stay, in the cabinet and the caucus, for the sake of party unity.

Mr. Pearson was reported "pleased" that Mr. Gordon left a cabinet meeting that, in effect, rebuked him and did not complain to the press.

At that point, at least, Mr. Gordon appeared to be going along with the principle of cabinet solidarity.

But, if past performance means anything, Mr. Gordon can be expected to continue to make trouble.

Since he returned to the cabinet in January, Mr. Gordon has:

● Threatened to resign over the government's handling of the Mercantile Bank affair, forcing a showdown on who is the finance minister, Mitchell Sharp or Mr. Gordon.

● Warned the party public that if it lets the Conservative wing of the party take over, it will go out of office.

● Challenged Defence Minister Hellyer by urging Canada to leave NORAD.

● Challenged Mr. Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin over Vietnam policy.

It is in the latter case that Mr. Gordon pressed his luck too far.

Mr. Pearson considers foreign affairs his own special preserve. And, when he lectured Mr. Gordon Wednesday he was as cold and tough as he had ever been.

After the cabinet meeting, Mr. Pearson said:

"We had a very interesting cabinet meeting. We discussed government policy on Vietnam."

Derailment Just in Time

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP) — A derailment which sent 23 cars of a Canadian Pacific freight train off the track near Cranbrook Wednesday occurred less than 24 hours prior to a scheduled railway safety meeting here.

Railway Brotherhood official Fred Lowe said the meeting will be held of delays up to 11 hours in getting injured men to hospital and of primitive and inadequate first aid equipment.

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council voted Tuesday to declare Monday, Aug. 7, a holiday for civic employees and recommended that private employers follow suit. The holiday will be known as Centennial Civic Holiday.

Safety Car Possible

Lifesaving Project Urged on Canada

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Canada could produce a prototype safety car at relatively low cost that could have the lifesaving potential of some of history's great vaccines, Ralph Nader said here Wednesday.

Mr. Nader, the author of the sensational book Unsafe At Any Speed, is conducting a one-man war against the U.S. auto industry for unsafe cars.

He told a press conference that the federal government's National Research Council could produce a prototype car for $5,000,000 that would cut death and injury on the highway by 75 per cent.

UNDERESTIMATED

He charged that Canadian statistics which show 5,000 killed and 140,000 injured each year in cars are "grossly underestimated."

"The ratio is at least 100 injuries for every death. Accidents last year cost you about $1,000,000,000," he said.

A spokesman for Industry Minister Drury who attended the press conference said his minister would certainly consider the Nader proposal.

NO U.S. FUNDS

He pointed out that the NRC is already working with the New York state authorities who are developing a prototype. But Mr. Nader said the New York project was destined to just "drizzle along" because the federal government in the U.S. has just refused to fund it.

He said that the car industry maintains that it is impossible to produce a safe car at reasonable cost.

"A prototype would explode all three of these myths," Mr. Nader said. "And it could be produced in 18 months."

HIGHER IN CANADA

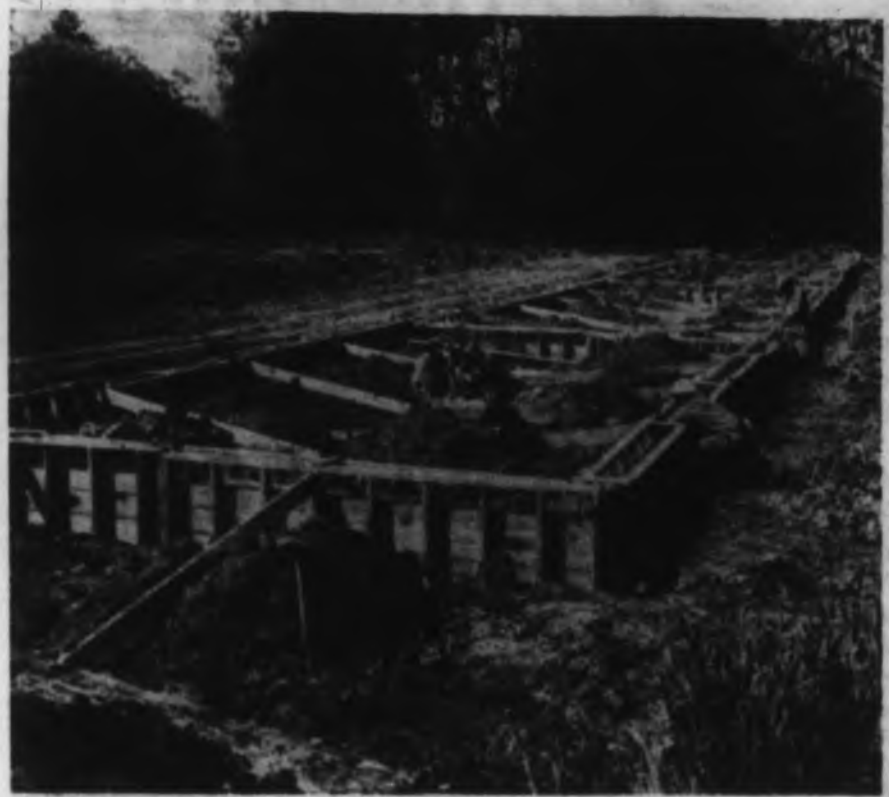

He claimed the injury and death rate from cars is much higher in Canada than in the United States, particularly because road conditions are worse and there are fewer hospitals.

Mr. Nader said Canada could produce a "gift to the world" if it turned some of its technical know-how towards safety.

"If the present rate in the United States continues, one out of every two people will be killed or hospitalized. In the age range from 5 to 39 car accidents are the leading cause of death," he said.

FEASIBLE
The prototype has been proved feasible in the New York study, he said. It would produce a "vastly superior car which would give motorists a second line of defence."

He said it would be a model of a car to sell in the $2,300 to $3,000 price range.

Sandown Stables Started

Rebuilding of stables at Sandown race track in North Saanich, where fire wrecked mostly everything last October, is in full swing. M. P. Paine of Victoria has $80,000 job of building four stables each 200 feet long and 40 feet wide. They'll be ready for new season, which starts Sept. 16. — (Kinsman)

City 325 Years Old

'Montreal and Expo Like Twin Sisters'

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal is 325 years old today and the city has received a 46-ton present as well as a galaxy of tributes.

"Montreal and Expo 67 are twin sisters travelling hand in hand toward a common success and triumph," said Expo's commissioner, general, Pierre Dupuy, in a Wednesday speech.

He spoke at a ceremony staged at Expo's official salute to the city.

Mr. Dupuy called Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal the "mentor for a great city."

WIDELY CREDITED

Mr. Drapeau has been widely credited with doing much to make the world's fair a roaring reality.

The city's own Compagnie Franche de la Marine, a youth-led ceremonial guard, paraded in its blue, white and grey uniforms.

Shouldering old-time muskets and responding to an age-old system of commands, the guard performed an intricate arms drill culminating in a blaze of gunfire which sparked the 1,000 spectators at Place des Nations into a rush of applause.

TAKING PLACE

Though the bulk of celebration ceremonies were taking place on the eve of Montreal's actual birthday, the day-long series of gatherings were to have their climax in a televised "homage to Montreal," planned to extend from before midnight until 12:45 a.m. today.

The big birthday present of the day took the form of Alexander Calder's sculpture, Man Sixty-seven foot high and 94 feet long, the work called a "stabile" by its United States creator—is constructed of stainless steel and seems to depict a dynamic human form in graceful movement.

INCO WORK

The work, which dominates one of the squares at Expo's spectacular St. Lawrence River site, was presented to the city on behalf of his company by Albert Gagnebin, president of the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd.

Expo, said Mr. Gagnebin, owes much to Mr. Drapeau's "bold" thinking and to that of its builders, all of whom "showed uncommon enterprise and courage in doing what the skeptics said was impossible."

Paris Greets Quebecer

PARIS (UPI) — Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec flew into Paris Wednesday night to a regal welcome at the start of a five-day official visit.

He was met at Orly airport by foreign secretary of state Andre Bettencourt and Jean Jurgens, director of the North American department at the foreign ministry. They were sent specially by President De Gaulle.

The airport and the city were decorated with the blue and white fleur de lys flag of French-Canada.

RARE GESTURE

In a rare gesture of hospitality, Johnson's plane was taken to a special building, where heads of state normally are greeted instead of the main terminal building.

"I have come to Paris as the new prime minister of Quebec in full contact with the French government and to inaugurate the new building of the delegation general in Paris but not to sign any accords," Johnson said at the airport.

MEETINGS DECIDED

This was an apparent reference to the fragile tensions between Quebec and Ottawa. The federal government has in the past been upset over agreements signed by a province with another state. Johnson said his meetings "will be essentially on the one hand, cultural and education, and on the other hand, technical, scientific and economic."

"But my visit throughout will have the object of enlarging our relations with France. I hope that it will help to clear the claustrophobic sentiments that we suffer in Quebec. The success, as far as we are concerned, will be on the collaboration which we hope to strengthen in all fields, but meet three times with De Gaulle, who is preparing for an official visit to Canada in July.

Johnson will meet the French chief of state today at the Elysee presidential palace after laying a wreath at the tomb of the unknown soldier under the Arc de Triomphe at the start of his five-day official visit.

Preparations for De Gaulle's state visit, due to start in Quebec rather than in the federal capital of Ottawa, will be high on the agenda of the Elysee Palace talk, which will be followed by a luncheon for the Quebec leader.

Diefenbaker:

Tories Must Find Cure for 'Suicide'

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker says the Conservative party must find a solution to its tendency toward self-destruction.

In a speech Wednesday to a Conservative women's club in suburban Rockcliffe Park, Mr. Diefenbaker referred briefly to the party's leadership convention set for September at Toronto. He did not say whether he would be a candidate.

"The Conservative party must find a cure for its incorrigible capacity for self-destruction," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker did not elaborate but he apparently was referring to divisions in the party on the leadership question.

Expo Welcome

English Speech 'Insolent'

OTTAWA (CP) — French-Canadian MPs were "completely thunderstruck" when Commissioner-General Pierre Dupuy spoke English only in welcoming a parliamentary group to Expo 67, Alcide Simard (Creditiste-L-1, St. Jean) said in the Commons Tuesday.

"My wife asked me, 'Doesn't this man speak French?' " Mr. Simard said, adding that his reply could not be repeated because it wasn't "laudatory."

Mr. Simard, discussing on the problems of Confederation during the throne speech debate, said the English-only speech was not only insolent, it was "the donkey's kick."

He also complained that O Canada wasn't played before the recent Stanley Cup battle between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs.

However, O Canada had been sung in both languages in recent Confederation ceremonies on Parliament Hill, "a lesson in patriotism and national pride."

"The sun sure knows how to torture a guy."

Dredging Contract Awarded

Fraser River Pile Driving Co. of New Westminster, the lowest of four bidders, has won a $39,624 contract for dredging at Shoal Harbor near Swartz Bay. The federal public works department said 50,000 cubic yards of material will be dredged from a central entrance channel 1,440 feet long by 80 feet wide.

Two approach channels 60 feet wide, one 530 feet long and the other 85, will connect the entrance channel with two proposed marina developments.

Backbenchers Help In Liberal Victory

OTTAWA (CP)—The minority Liberal government called out its backbenchers in strength Wednesday to turn back a non-confidence motion on its dairy policy 107 to 90.

Conservatives, New Democrats and Creditistes lined up against the government. The 105 Liberals in the chamber won only the support of H. A. Olson (BC—Medicine Hat) and Independent J. A. Mongrain (Trois-Rivieres).

It was the fourth non-confidence test in the first six days of the throne-speech debate, and by far the closest.

Voting in favor were 87 Conservatives, 16 New Democrats, six Creditistes and one independent, Maurice Allard (Sherbrooke).

Commons standings are: Liberals 127, Conservatives 85, New Democrats 21, Creditistes 8, Social Credit 5, independent 3 and vacant 6, for a total of 265 seats.

DAILY POLICY
The motion by Dr. Lewis Brand (PC—Saskatoon) criticized the government's subsidy program on manufactured milk which guarantees a return of $4.75 a hundredweight, short of the level of $5.10 being demanded by farmer organizations.

MILD CONFLICT
Four of the five Social Credit members were absent for the count, as were 28 Conservatives.

The government's dairy policy has been a contentious issue for weeks in Commons debate, but this was the first opportunity for a confidence test on the subject.

The Fish and Wildlife Branch Wednesday reminded well-meaning nature-lovers that young wild animals are not "fair game" for adoption.

"Infant wildlife creatures may appear lost, hungry and forlorn but in very few cases have they been abandoned by their parents," said Dr. James Hatter, director of the branch.

"Their parents, naturally reluctant to show themselves to intruders, often stand helplessly nearby as their youngsters are carried away by people who find them cute and cuddly."

The cutthroat trout are rising to the fly at the south end of Prospect Lake. At Marble Bay in Cowichan Lake anglers are taking one to three-pounders on black gnat and silver duster wet flies and trappers are dragging a bumble bee fly.

At the top end of Cowichan River fly fishermen drifting in redbottoms are having a ball catching trout on orange or yellow-bodied bucktails or laggards, nymphs, and the new English-style red and yellow gyros, which are like a brown hackle but a little sparser.

A small black gnat or a dry brown hackle takes them now on Quamichan and on Shawanigan and Dugan Lakes. Match brown and yellow-bodied wet flies and nymphs are taking them in good numbers.

In Sooke Harbor and Basin tied-down minnow flies and silver-bodied flies with red tails are taking sea-run cutthroat. It is any day now for the black and hatch—the time is now but we need warm weather to bring on the hatch—and fishing a dry black and fly in the riffles of the Cowichan around Skutz Falls can be rewarding if you hit it right.

All of which we record to bolster our arguments against the setting aside of "fly-fishing-only" waters.

There are still plenty of spots for fly fishermen to enjoy their quality fishing. We still say the only "fly fishing only" we could accept would be purely for conservation in places like the lower Sooke River, where all fishing is stopped at certain times to make sure young salmon on their spawning runs are not molested by anglers.

We could see no harm in allowing "fly fishing only" at that time, because fly fishermen are not likely to make much trouble for the spring (chinook) salmon.

The "fly fishing only" resolution did pass on a split vote at the B.C. Wildlife Federation convention, but only after six of seven clauses were deleted.

It finally reads: "That every effort should be made to set aside waters for fly fishing only in such a way that either one lake in a particular chain of lakes, or one section of a larger lake where applicable, or one section of a river where applicable, should be set aside for fly fishing only, and that the remaining waters in the area should be open to angling by other methods."

Victoria delegate Brian Roberts voted against it. Howard English, the other Victoria delegate exercised his prerogative of voting for it—against his club's instructions—because, he explained, the resolution had been changed from that originally considered by the club.

But Monday night Victoria Fish and Game Club members left no doubt how they felt. They gave a very strong vote against "fly fishing only" waters.

About this time two years ago we happened to hit the black and hatch on the Cowichan while Ricky Ciccarma was showing us some of his dry fly fishing tricks.

Ricky is a top fly fisherman, a good fishing companion and a conservationist, but we don't see eye to eye with him on some of his fly fishing beliefs.

He says a fly fisherman is a good conservationist because he can hook and release fish unharmed.

We don't particularly subscribe to this "hook and release" business. It can't be much fun for the fish and any angler who would consistently take and release fish is certainly not likely to leave much productive water for other anglers behind him. We would lean more towards a ruling—like those enforced in some U.S. steelhead waters—that an angler must keep the fish he catches.

Ciccarma is genuinely concerned about the decline in trout fishing, particularly on the Cowichan.

"Indeed it is possible to take as many, or more fish on the fly, but—and this seems to escape you as well as many others—not all of these fish must be killed," he writes.

"Furthermore it is possible to use barbless hooks and make doubly sure of not harming unwanted fish. . . . Apart from all this, it goes without saying it takes a little longer to acquire the skill to take a free rising trout on the fly than it does to hook a fish ravenously after spawning on rose rolled along the bottom. There certainly is no privilege connected with taking a little trouble to learn these skills," he says. "One other, and very important, aspect of fly fishing as a conservation measure is the fact that with a fly, half of what could easily be reached by spinning, thus giving some degree of shelter to the fish and creating undisturbed portions of the river which act as reservoirs, where fish grow."

He calls upon the fish and wildlife branch to institute a decent stocking program on the Cowichan—enough to guarantee the continued existence of the brown trout. He says: "It is a fine fish and its numbers are declining steadily. I can vouch for that, and they are not being replaced by rainbow or cutthroat either, except perhaps in the top mile or two of the river."

Lions Sign Five

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League announced Tuesday the signing of five Canadian players, including four holdovers.

The new player signed is Ross Teller, 20, of Montreal, the club's third Canadian draft choice. He played college football for Loyola in Montreal.

The holdovers signed are Jim McKean, a quarterback-halfback, who joined the Lions late last season from the Saskatchewan Roughriders; offensive tackle Jim Hogan, who was a late cut by the Lions last year;

Bandana Brings TV Stop

NEW YORK (AP)—National Professional Soccer League referees hereafter will signify a delay in a game for television commercial time by waving large red bandanas over their heads in a circular motion, Ken Macker, the NPSL commissioner, said Wednesday.

The action was prompted by Pete Rhodes, an English referee, who was quoted earlier this week as saying he called 11 fake fouls in Sunday's game between Pittsburgh and Toronto.

Macker said that referees now may allow time for commercials after goals, on goal kicks, following injuries that require a trainer's attention and before corner kicks and sideline throw-ins.

Rigging of Commercial Stops May Be Banned by Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Richard L. Ottinger said Wednesday he is drafting legislation that would prohibit rigging professional sports events to permit scheduling of radio or television commercials.

Ottinger, a member of the House communications and power subcommittee, said the bill would extend to professional sports events a provision making it illegal to "rig contents of intellectual knowledge, intellectual skill or chance."

The New York Democrat added in a statement he hopes his proposal will spark an investigation "of the extent to which the radio and television networks are influencing the conduct of professional sports at the expense of the viewer or listener."

National Clubs Being Sought For Proposed Senior League

CALGARY (CP)—Formation of a major senior hockey league in the west will be discussed here Thursday by officials of three western clubs and the Canadian and U.S. national teams.

"A couple of months ago it may have been just a dream but right now I'm convinced we'll be in business next fall," said Ron Butlin, owner of Calgary Spurs of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League.

Meeting will be delegates from Spurs, Edmonton Nuggets and Saskatoon Quakers of the WCSHL, Jackie McLeod, manager-coach of the Canadian team, and Murray Williamson of Minneapolis, manager of the U.S. national team.

Butlin said that although only five clubs will attend, attempts are being made to spark interest by Regina Caps of the WCSHL. Butlin described the club as a "definite asset in this league."

"I feel confident we'll come out of this meeting with something concrete to work on," Butlin said. "We'll have a pretty good idea Thursday what the future holds."

"Most of the questions we want answers for revolve around the (Canadian) national team."

"We'll need assurance this isn't going to be a one-year shot for them and we'd also want to establish a policy regarding the placement of players who the nationals have an interest in but won't be keeping on the team roster."

Butlin said the position of the U.S. Nationals won't be known until the meeting.

"They've expressed an interest in us but after that I can't really say much more."

"They need the competition as much as the Canadian Nationals but in this case there's a geography problem to overcome. I . . . will be interested in what they have to say."

Butlin conceded present WCSHL entries couldn't perform competitively with the two National teams without strengthening.

"We (Spurs) won the West but I'll be the first to admit the Spurs will have a minimum of five new faces come next season. The same is probably the case in Edmonton and Saskatoon."

Butlin said McLeod has dismissed league entry with Regina Caps. "If they can locate solid financial backing, I feel they'll get a lot of help in making them competitive on the ice."

For Track and Field Honors

Relay Teams Boost Oak Bay Hopes

Oak Bay secured its on the under-18 track championship Wednesday in the championships at Victoria High by placing its relay teams one-two in the "A" flight of the girls' medley relay.

The Oak Bay "A" team finished in 1:20.3, and the "B" team in 1:23, a sixth of a second better than the Claremont "A" team. If Oak Bay finishes first and second in Friday's final, it would collect a whopping 35 points, 20 for first and 15 for second.

Oak Bay's Bill McCormick, who set a discus record Tuesday and already holds the high jump mark, led the relay jumpers Wednesday with a 40' 3" leap, 2' 6 1/2" off the record of Oak Bay's Bob McLaren set in 1963.

ANSWER HERE?

Claremont's "A" boys' relay team set a record for the 4x400 relay with a time of 3:34.1, 1.7 seconds better than the mark set by the Vic High team last year.

Claremont led in qualifiers Wednesday with 10 in the "A" flight and seven in the "B" flight. Oak Bay had 10 in the "A" and five in the "B". Mt. Douglas led in the "A" and seven in the "B". Mount View four in the "A" and three in the "B". Vic High three in the "A" and six in the "B". Esquimalt three in the "A" and two in the "B". Wednesday's qualifiers and the qualified standings:

Our Principals

Teaching Life Happy Choice

Harry Downard almost headed into a different profession, but a few minutes' conversation would convince anyone that when he chose teaching it was the best thing that could have happened, both for him and the schools.

His life has obviously been a happy one.

Mr. Downard, now principal of Gordon Head junior high, was born in Winnipeg where his father had been a plumber and for years a buyer with the Hudson's Bay Company. The family moved to Victoria when Harry was three.

FIRST CLASSES
His first classes were in the old Fernwood school, and from there he went to George Jay and on to Victoria High.

He finished high school when still too young for senior education, so he went to work as a truck driver and apprentice electrician.

Finally, just 40 years ago, he was old enough for higher education that would lead to something more rewarding — and went to Lansdowne Normal. His first post was at Stuart River, 14 miles from Vanderhoof.

STUART RIVER
In one room he had 19 students from grades 1 to 11, and he taught grade by grade in 10-minute periods. As the eldest pupil was 17 and Mr. Downard just 18, teacher grew a mustache to add dignity to his years.

Then it was back to Victoria College on Craigdarroch for two years, and a third at UBC, spending summers driving sightseeing buses and working as a flunkey in a Jordan River cook house.

Mr. Downard headed north again to teach for two years at Halfway River between Taylor Flats and Hudson Hope, then returned to spend six years teaching at Shirley School near Jordan River.

THREE YEARS
For three years next he was principal at Happy Valley, then taught for five at Lumsden under Hugh Creelman. He moved up to principal again for two years at Strawberry Vale, then opened the new View Royal school.

One year later he moved to Victoria West where he remained for nine years before his appointment as principal of Gordon Head junior high, a year and a half before it was completed. He helped with its planning, and spent part of his time teaching as vice-principal and science teacher at Oak Bay junior high.

Ask Mr. Downard about any of these posts, and odds are he'll tell you, "That was the happiest time of my life!" Obviously, they all were.

Not surprisingly, his hobbies include involvement with people — lodge work, community efforts, sports, square dancing. Time left over goes for golfing and trailering.

Mr. Downard has a son who was an RCAF jet pilot and is now with Air Canada — and who has made the principal a grandfather. A daughter is employed in secretarial work. — E. M. S.

Peace League Sidelined From Parade

There will be more than 40 floats in Monday's big Victoria Day parade but one of them will not be that of the Victoria Peace Action League, demonstrating against the Vietnam war.

Lieut. John Raftor, chairman of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, says the request for a float was refused on the grounds that it was deemed political and it was policy to refuse such applications.

At the same meeting a decision on a request by the Victoria Youth Council for a live-in type float was left to the discretion of the parade marshal.

BIGGEST YET
Although final details had not been published Wednesday, officials were busy tying up all the loose ends for the annual procession and it was confidently asserted it would be the biggest ever held in the city.

A meeting of the association Tuesday night received final entries and gave last minute instructions.

SCHOOL BANDS
Lieut. Raftor said everything was ready for the big parade. There will be 15 bands in the procession mostly from high schools in northwestern states. All the local military units will send marching contingents and it is expected that there will be a motorcycle corps from the army.

HORSES, RIDERS
Lodges and clubs will be represented and horsemen's organizations will send riders. It was expected that the parade would take up to 2½ hours to pass a given point.

It was not known Wednesday whether or not the parade would be televised but Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood and the offices of Mayor Hugh Stephen were busy trying to make arrangements.

LOOKING UP
The Soviet Union's present five-year plan intends to increase real incomes by 30 per cent by 1970.

Saanich Inlet

Sewage Plan Opposed

More than 400 people have signed petitions protesting Central Saanich's plans to drain sewage into Saanich Inlet, it was reported Thursday.

In addition, sportsmen and the Community Planning Association of Canada have filed protests with the Pollution Control Board.

The deadline for the submissions is 4:30 p.m. May 26. The hearing will be held May 30 in Brentwood Women's Institute Hall.

DISPOSAL SYSTEM
Central Saanich wants to install a sewage disposal system in the Brentwood area because runoff from septic tanks is contaminating beaches to such an extent that a disease epidemic could break out.

The plans are opposed by groups who claim the bottom of Saanich Inlet is such that the wastes cannot be flushed out to sea by normal tidal action.

Access Denial Not Legal

Esquimalt council does not have the right to prohibit access from Old Esquimalt Road to the Halfway House parking lot, as it has for the last quarter-century, in the opinion of council's solicitor.

In a letter read to traffic committee Tuesday, the solicitors said that under the Municipal Act, council could regulate but could not prohibit access from any piece of property abutting the highway.

The letter said this would apply to the owner and his vehicles, and presumably any vehicles that might be lawfully upon the property.

Another letter read to the committee contained a guarantee from the Halfway House owner that cars could be parked on the lot by people attending Queen of Peace Church on Old Esquimalt Road.

has been repeatedly denied by Esquimalt council since 1941. Coun. William Bell said there was congestion on Old Esquimalt Road, with cars parked on each side during church times. He suggested that a boom log placed across the lot would prevent the lot being used as a through road by traffic from Esquimalt Road onto Old Esquimalt Road.

Municipal Engineer William Gerry had noted police objections to the application, because they felt the lot could become a "race track."

Further action was deferred to the next traffic committee meeting.

Heavy Cong Weapons U.S. Planes' Targets

SAIGON (AP) — American planes sought to knock out the Communists' heavy weapons as U.S. marines and North Vietnamese regulars hammered away at each other Wednesday in self-piece fighting just south of the demilitarized zone which separates North and South Vietnam.

The U.S. command announced marine flyers bombed two surface-to-air missile sites that reconnaissance showed the Communists were setting up within the six-mile-wide zone.

The attack on these bases followed up U.S. Air Force strikes reported to have destroyed two and damaged another of the long-range 30-m.m. guns shelling American positions south of the zone.

High U.S. officers said that, though the Communist surface-to-air missile is a bulky weapon nearly 40 feet long, the North Vietnamese may be actually trying to infiltrate some of the mobile missile launchers into South Vietnam itself to hamper U.S. air operations.

MARINES HIT HARD
Russian-made 140-m.m. rockets exploded at Go Linh, a forward base of U.S. marines and army artillerymen two miles south of the zone, in the long-range duelling. U.S. artillery and planes pounded Communist positions.

Marine companies, attempting again to root North Vietnamese regulars from bunkers and tunnels near Con Thien, ran into heavy small arms and mortar fire late in the day.

One company radioed: "We're being gassed."

This could not be confirmed though the Communists, as have American and South Vietnamese government forces, have occasionally used tear gas. U.S. combat equipment includes gas masks.

Spock Spattered In Peace March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Benjamin Spock and Mrs. Martin Luther King led about 200 peace demonstrators to the White House gates Wednesday to present a petition demanding an end to the Vietnam war. Dr. Spock was struck by an egg as they were leaving.

Watched by an unusually heavy police guard, the group representing the "mobilization to end the war in Vietnam," marched to the White House to hear Dr. Spock read the statement saying "the world is on the brink of war."

As the demonstrators turned to leave, an unidentified man threw an egg which hit Dr. Spock and splashed on some of the other demonstrators, causing a scuffle for a few seconds.

New Brunswick MLA Suspended Two Weeks

FREDERICTON (CP) — A member of the Progressive Conservative opposition, Rodman E. Logan of Saint John County, was expelled from the legislature Wednesday night after the stormiest scene of the session.

Mr. Logan was suspended for two weeks after refusing to withdraw a remark in which he referred to Liberal Premier Louis J. Robichaud as a "liar."

Speaker H. H. Williamson appealed repeatedly to Mr. Logan to withdraw the remark. Mr. Logan refused to withdraw, saying that he was the subject of a "political trick" and strode out of the chamber. Premier Robichaud then moved a resolution that Mr. Logan be suspended from the service of the house and it was adopted with the support of the Liberal government majority.

Election Outlined

SAIGON (LAT) — South Vietnam's constituent assembly, acting as the provisional national legislature, passed the law Tuesday under which national elections will be held next fall.

After spirited debate, 50 of the 60 members present of the 117-delegate body voted in favor of the draft which contains 59 articles hammered out over the past month.

The election law now goes to Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state, who may approve or amend it. However, the assembly can reject amendments.

Machinery All Set To Sift Through Medal Nominations

OTTAWA (CPI) — Governor-General Michener Wednesday announced the establishment of an official secretariat at Government House for the new Order of Canada, of which he is the chancellor.

The order, to be awarded outstanding Canadians for courage and service, was announced a month ago by Prime Minister Pearson.

Edward Butler, official secretary to the Governor-General, will be secretary-general of the order.

SEND THEM IN

Tuesday's announcement said nominations for awards now should be sent to Government House. Awards will be made on the recommendation of an advisory council headed by the chief justice of Canada, Robert Taschereau.

"Nominations, which may be made for exceptional service to Canada in any field of endeavor, should be submitted with relevant supporting material to the secretary-general of the order at Government House in Ottawa," the announcement said.

"To ensure that all deserving candidates will be brought to the attention of the advisory council, any organization or individual who wishes to nominate one or more Canadian citizens should feel free to do so."

COMPANIONS TOO

First appointments to the order are to be made July 1, the 100th anniversary of the coming into force of the British North America Act.

The order will have companions and medal-borders for courage or service. Companions of the order will be entitled to wear a neck ribbon of red and white with a white - enameled gold pendant bearing a red maple leaf.

Fifty companions of the order may be created this year, but no more than 25 a year thereafter. There will be a limit of 150 at any time.

NO LIMIT

Companions will be selected for "merit, especially service to Canada or to humanity at large," according to the Queen's letters patent creating the order.

Acts of conspicuous courage in circumstances of great danger will be recognized by medals for courage, which may be given to non-Canadians as well as Canadians. There is no limit on the number.

Medals for service will be awarded in different categories than for companions. No more than 50 medals will be given any year.

Suppressed

A-Bomb Effect Filmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has suppressed for nearly 22 years confiscated Japanese films showing ghastly after-effects of the 1945 atomic bombing of Hiroshima, U.S. officials disclose.

The Japanese government has at least twice asked that restrictions on the film be lifted, but the U.S. government has refused on grounds it might damage U.S. - Japanese relations, said the informants.

Called in Japan "the film of Hiroshima" because it wasn't supposed to exist, the film was taken by Tokyo University scientists sent to Hiroshima soon after the bombing, the sources said.

The officials said the Japanese scientists still were at work filming in the devastated city when U.S. officials arrived in Hiroshima and confiscated the film.

But the American authorities determined to finish the documentary and used the same Japanese cameramen who had taken the initial footage.

For many years, officials said, U.S. policy opposed any distribution of the documentary because it showed in stark and gruesome detail blast effects and the bomb's impact in a densely populated area.

But some U.S. authorities now are reported in favor of letting Japan decide what if any restrictions should be imposed on the film's showing.

Hiroshima was the target of the first atomic bomb ever dropped on an enemy — Aug. 6, 1945. The bomb obliterated three-fifths of the city of 343,000 population.

Mexican Army Controls State

HERMOSILLO, Mexico (UPI) — The Mexican army took control of the state of Sonora, bordering Arizona, Wednesday after discontent with a political party's nominee for governor touched off three days of rioting, gun battles and firebomb attacks.

Federal intervention was ordered by President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz Tuesday night on the appeal of the state legislature which said the disorder, vandalism and armed clashes left the situation out of control. The legislation said arms and ammunition had been distributed to "enemies of the government."

Soldiers carrying rifles with bayonets moved in. About 500 of them were quartered in a barracks and five air force planes brought about 250 paratroopers from Mexico City. Telephone communications in this city, the capital of Sonora state, were cut off. Rioting was touched off by the nomination of Faustino Felix Serna as the official candidate for governor of the ruling Revolutionary Institutions Party for next July's election. Hermosillo officials said a mob of 1,000 persons sacked Serna's campaign headquarters before the troops arrived. They burned the contents of the office.

Delay Visit of Fleet, Lebanon Asks U.S.

BEIRUT (IAT) — The Lebanese cabinet Wednesday decided to ask the United States to postpone a visit of the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

The proposed visit, scheduled for May 26, aroused a storm of political controversy here after Israeli Premier Eshkol told a U.S. magazine that Washington had pledged the fleet to the defence of Israel. Premier Rashid Karami said Lebanon "agrees in principle" to a visit by the fleet but that the date would be "left to circumstances."

One Drive Being Discussed

Area May Fill Bigger Chest

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

One enormous annual drive to consolidate all district fund-raising appeals, eliminate tag days and generally tidy up the whole money-raising situation is the target of meetings being held in Victoria.

Meetings will be held in future weeks to try to work out a plan which would have the blessings of not only the business community but the civic governments of the district.

Reluctant to talk while meetings and negotiations were still in progress, fund-raising officials were nevertheless hopeful Wednesday that some of the larger independent agencies may soon be merged with the Community Chest's United Appeal approach.

Twenty-one organizations are encompassed in the appeal, which set an objective of $452,000 in 1966 and raised $483,035.

On the outside are about a dozen other independent groups, some of which conduct major fund drives. Included are the Polio and Rehabilitation Foundation (Mothers' March), the Heart Fund, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, B.C. Society for Crippled Children (Easter Seals), TB (Christmas Seals), Harbor Lights Special Dinner, the Colonist 500 Fund and the Times Unitarian Services Committee.

Largest of these are the Red Cross, which has set a 1967 goal of $83,000, and the Salvation Army.

IN PROGRESS
Meetings have been held over the year with the intention of consolidating the fund-raising efforts of these major organizations with the United Appeal, but with no success so far. Negotiations are still in progress.

Attitude of the area's civic leaders toward the problem was indicated in a statement issued recently from the office of Mayor Hugh Stephen, which said:

"The reeves and I are deeply concerned by the duplication of effort involved in the multiplicity of fund-raising campaigns in the Greater Victoria area."

WASTE OF TIME
Present unco-ordinated methods wasted time and human material resources, the statement said.

Organizations consolidating under the United Appeal would render signal service to the community and relieve citizens of the frustrations encountered under the present situation, the mayor said, and to facilitate co-ordination, a registration bureau had been established. Details of appeals should be recorded at the various municipal halls in the district.

Wreck-Hunting

Landing Barge Start For Coast Adventure

By BOB FETHICK

Some people irreverently call it the ark, but to builder Patrick Hancock, the 48-foot solid-iron-plate-to-steel landing-barge replica represents nearly two years of hard work and the beginning of an adventure—wreck-hunting.

"I've read everything there is to read about the West Coast. There are dozens of wrecks," says Mr. Hancock, who is obviously anxious to get on with the hunting.

In the back yard of the farm at 4530 Cheeseman, the big craft looms, nearing completion. He literally plans to sell his farm and go to sea.

LANDING CRAFT
"We went down to the States to try to buy a landing craft. We could have bought one cheap, but we weren't allowed to bring it into Canada," he said.

Slipper Hancock also looked over some landing craft owned by a Prince Rupert pulp mill, but the mill wouldn't sell.

"They are all made of wood and lying around there rotting," he said.

WEST KEMP
The West Kemp, as the barge is officially known, is a smaller replica of a regular landing craft.

"The last ones we looked at, we took some pretty close measurements. One advantage of a smaller craft is it is able to manoeuvre easier among the rocks," he said.

Along with two diving friends, Tony French and Dean Whetton, Jr., and Mr. Hancock's son, Russell, 23, the first expedition to the west coast is planned as soon as shakedown cruise is completed.

TWO MONTHS
They are hoping to get two months on the job—"that is, if we don't have to go into Fort Renfrew or somewhere and wait for weather," said Mr. Hancock.

offered to the B.C. Maritime Museum.

But all this is in the future, and right now Mr. Hancock is awaiting the official launching today at Esquimalt Drydock.

Noted Physicist Research Chief

Dr. William M. English, a physicist well-known in Victoria's scientific circles, was appointed Wednesday as acting chief superintendent of the Canadian Defence Research Board.

He was with the Pacific Naval Laboratory's marine physics section here, heading it for a number of years and acting as laboratory superintendent before he went to the Bedford Institute of Oceanography in 1960.

He rejoined the Defence Research Board, of which PNL is an agency, in 1964 as superintendent of the electronics wing at the Canadian Armament Research and Development Establishment, Valcartier, Que.

Dr. English, married with three children, obtained his bachelor of science degree in physics and mathematics from University of British Columbia.

He received a doctorate in physics from the University of California in 1943. He is well-known for his research in acoustics, electromagnetics and fluid dynamics.

B.C. Decrees Pay For Eight Holidays

The B.C. labor department Wednesday issued its first order requiring employers to pay workers for eight statutory holidays a year.

The order, effective Aug. 1, requires employers to give a day off with pay for New Year's Day, Good Friday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Remembrance Day, Christmas Day and "any day substituted for any such holiday."

EXCEPTIONS
It applies to all workers except those who have paid holidays under collective agreements, employees who are exempt from the Male and Female Minimum Wage Acts by government regulation and several types of salesmen.

"This," said Labor Minister Peterson, "is a further advance in the labor board's program to raise standards for employees in the province."

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST

May 18, 1967

A gentleman lately from San Francisco says there are many number of young Victorians in that city doing nothing who would be only too glad to return to Victoria, could they but obtain employment. The gentleman adds he did not meet with a man who resided in this colony that did not heartily wish himself back again. The poor fellows appear to have leapt from the frying pan into the fire.

The suit of the United States government vs. several Chinese companies to recover $53,000, the amount which it was alleged they had defrauded the U.S. revenue of, by smuggling opium from Victoria to San Francisco, has been decided in favor of the United States. Tong Fat, who formerly kept a tea store on Fort Street was the informant.

Rev. Mr. Garret, while on horseback yesterday looking up some cattle on the Craigflower Road near his residence, fell from his saddle and sustained a fracture of one of his legs.

Royal Guest Here By Dinnertime

Princess Alexandra arrives at Patricia Bay Airport at 5 p.m. today. Her route to Government House will be along Patricia Bay Highway, Douglas, Fort, Cook and Rockland Avenue, and she will be in the downtown area between 5:30 and 6 p.m.

Housing Grants

Indian Help Welcome But Scant

A former chief of the East Saanich Indian band said Wednesday night that Ottawa had good intentions in offering housing grants to Canadian treaty Indians who live away from reserves, but he feared the money allocated for this purpose was not enough.

Edwin Underwood, 783 Patricia Bay Highway, the 61-year-old leader who recently stepped down after 10 years as chief of his band, was commenting on the off-reserve housing program which was announced Tuesday in the Commons by Indian Affairs Minister Laing.

Mr. Laing said a revolving $1,000,000 Indian affairs fund would provide a continual supply of money for a program offering housing grants up to $6,000 and $1,000 furniture grants to treaty Indians.

BEST LAND
Mr. Underwood was born on the reserve and has lived there ever since. He personally sees no reason why Indians should leave the reserves, which he says contain some of the most desirable land there is.

But he said he thought it would be "very nice" if Ottawa gave off-reserve Indians "a chance to get a start in life and get a good job."

"They're trying to do their level best to improve our people," he said.

HELP RESERVES
Mr. Underwood said that if the money was to be divided among all of Canada's Indians, it would be "splitting it pretty thin and there's not going to be very much."

He said many changes had taken place in the last 10 years and that the Indian's lot was bound to change more in the years ahead, but that some Indians would continue living on reserves and the government "should concentrate more on improving living conditions on the reserves."

Shirtsleeves, Shorts Make Scene

Shirtsleeves and shorts made the scene Wednesday as the temperature rose to 86.

Although considerably higher than the temperature of 58 for May 17 last year, it was quite a few degrees from the record high of 78.9 for May 17, 1956.

Today's forecast is for more of the same.

Safety Check Urged

A coroner's jury recommended the supervision of children's slides and the checking of safety features on park equipment Wednesday night in an inquest into the death of Bonnie Lynn Bandolan.

Bonnie, 11, died Friday in St. Joseph's Hospital after falling from a slide at Topaz Park May 2.

At the inquest, playmate Jill Armstrong, 9, said that Bonnie, in attempting to slide head first on her stomach caught her foot on a rail near the top of the slide. In trying to free herself, she fell, striking her head on the gravel below.

NO HEAD FRACTURE
When admitted to hospital she was found by intern Dr. David King to be fully alert and conscious, with only her wrist hurting.

Later, she developed convulsions, but when X-rayed there was no evidence of a skull fracture.

Her condition worsened and she underwent several operations.

Pathologist Dr. Bruce Hay, in his post-mortem, concluded death by severe brain damage, with the contributing factor of bronchial pneumonia.

The jury attached no blame to the accidental death.

Council Hears Strike Report
Victoria Labor Council heard a report Wednesday on the fishermen's strike that has B.C. trawl vessels shorebound.

Albert Ogden, business representative of the fishermen's union, told council delegates his union is prepared to stand fast in the nine-week-old strike, in spite of a 48-page injunction ordering shoreworkers to load vessels with fish.

He suggested civil disobedience seemed to be the only way to fight injunctions.

The forthcoming marriage is announced between Donna Denise Cordick and Mr. Paul Marcel Girardet. Miss Cordick is the daughter of Mr. William Cordick, Ralph Street, and Mrs. Blanche Cordick, 3975 Wilkinson Road, and her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Girardet of Canoe, B.C. The wedding will take place at 7:30 p.m., June 3, in St. Andrew's Cathedral. — (Jus-Rite)

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 20-year-old college student (male) who lives at home, has a good car, all the clothes I want and a great stereo. There is no shortage of money around here. I maintain a B average, have plenty of friends and am an Officer Candidate in the Naval Reserve.

My life is in pretty good shape all the way around. The only person I have real trouble with is my father. Whenever we have a disagreement, which is often he calls me names, refuses to listen to my side and ends up ordering me around like a servant. I'm a person who hates to be bossed. If he'd ask I wouldn't mind so much, but his "Lord and Master" attitude gets my goat and I find myself hating him.

I realize there is no love in our family except the love for money. I can't do anything about that, but maybe I can do something to improve my relationship with my father. What do you suggest? — WILLING BUT UNABLE

Dear Willing: First, accept the fact that your father is as unhappy about this poor relationship as you — maybe more so. He wishes it were better but the poor guy doesn't know what to do about it.

Some changes need to be made and you are the one who will have to make them. Stay off subjects and out of situations which create conflicts. You know better than anyone what they are. If he asks you to do something, do it without argument. Watch your language when you speak to him. Be respectful and considerate, even if he is not. The greater the contrast between your good manners and his hostile behavior, the sooner he will come to realize that you are a mature young man who can no longer be dealt with like a little kid.

Dear Ann Landers: I am the father of three pre-teen daughters and I read your column every day. Frankly, I am worried to death about the permissive So-What-Why-Not attitude toward sex among today's teen-agers. Recently a 16-year-old girl wrote in to ask you why she shouldn't sleep with her boy friend. She said he was becoming increasingly insistent and she was afraid if she didn't give in soon he would drop her in favor of someone who was more co-operative.

Have we parents failed so miserably in our attempts to instill decent values in our daughters that they would prostitute themselves in order to hang onto a boy friend who isn't worth a ball of beans in the first place?

Surely ALL teen-agers don't feel this way. I would like to see some letters in your column from girls who consider themselves real people rather than playthings and sex objects. Do such teens actually exist? — FATHER OF GIRLS

Dear Father: Of course such girls exist. I have visited with them in our high schools and talked with them in private sessions. They are alert and sharp-eyed and nobody is going to sell them a cheap package of kinks.

I extend to these girls an invitation to write and tell me why they are holding out instead of putting out. I'll print the best one.

A gown of silk peau, fashioned on empire lines, was worn by Helen Elizabeth Taylor, when she exchanged marriage vows and rings with James Frederick Forward.

A softly pleated bandeau encircled the waistline of the sheath gown. The bodice was styled with a portrait neckline and sleeves to the elbow. Seed pearls and crystals shimmered on the rosette which held her tiered veil of silk illusion net. She carried white roses and stephanotis in her cascade bouquet.

Arrangements of white, mauve and purple iris were at the altar of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church when Rev. J. A. Roberts heard vows uniting the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Taylor, 3537 Kelsey Place, and the son of Insp. N. F. Forward, RCMP, and Mrs. Forward, of Yorkton, Sask. Mr. Taylor gave his daughter in marriage.

Empire-line gowns of mauve peau de chamois were worn by the bride's three attendants. Toning flowers, edged with tulle, formed their headpieces, and they carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

Tea Raises $1,885

The sum of $1,885 was realized when the Women's Auxiliary to Rest Haven Hospital held a tea and sale of work at the hospital. The money will be used to help provide cardiac equipment for the specialized case room. Further donations are still being sent to the group.

The affair was opened by Mrs. George R. Pearkes. Greeting her at the door were president Mrs. C. Turner, general convener Mrs. H. R. Evans and Miss A. Jackson, director of nurses.

After being introduced by H. R. Troun, Mrs. A. Caldwell Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Pearkes presented the heart-sound amplifier and dedication plaque of the cardiac equipment to hospital administrator, T. Bradley, the presentation being made on behalf of the auxiliary. On a tour of the nursery, Mrs. Pearkes was greeted by the cries of a baby born minutes before her entrance.

Mrs. H. Clark was tea convener and Mrs. W. W. Gardner was in charge of a home baking stall.

Other stall conveners were: Knitted wear, Mrs. L. Hafer; a p e r f u m e s, Mrs. J. W. Whitaker and aprons and novelties, Mrs. A. B. Cross and Mrs. H. R. Troun. Mrs. A. Caldwell handled the sale of tickets. Canon F. C. Vaughan-Birch gave the opening prayer.

Hospital Day At Lady Minto

GANGES, B.C. — The Lady Minto and Gulf Islands Hospital held Open House Friday, May 12, the birthday of Florence Nightingale.

The many Salt Spring Island residents as well as a large contingent from Galiano, Mayne and Pender Islands were greeted by the president of the Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Douglas Wilson, the matron, Miss C. Ferguson, the chairman of the board, Douglas Cavaye and the administrator of the hospital board, Harold Hoffman.

Interested visitors toured the well equipped hospital erected by members of the board. Of special interest was the brightly furnished sun room with its TV set, the up-to-date laundry room, as well as a cardiac monitor recently purchased by the board with $250 bequeathed to the hospital by the late W. Macle.

Tea was served in the Board Room by members of the women's auxiliary. Co-conveners were Mrs. A. E. Pike and Mrs. R. T. Cook. The tea table was centred with a silver bowl of pink and white tulips flanked by pink tapers in silver candleabra. Beautiful floral arrangements of blue, tulips, and other May flowers arranged throughout the hospital.

Pouring tea were Mrs. Douglas Cavaye, Mrs. E. Parsons and Miss Mary Lee; Mrs. Fred Robson, Galiano; Mrs. J. Purchase, Pender; and Mrs. C. Murrell, Mayne Island. Serving tea were Mrs. M. Sober, Mrs. E. A. Jarman, and Mrs. L. O. Tiffin.

Mrs. S. G. Sprule was in charge of the silver collection. Approximately $200 was taken in during the afternoon.

'Good Luck' Horseshoe Sent From Scotland for Wedding

A 'good luck' horseshoe charm sent from Scotland was carried by Barrie Stewart when she became the bride of Mr. Edward Francis Iseke at a recent ceremony in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church.

Rev. A. E. Leonard officiated at the wedding for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Stewart, Suite 306, 1975-B Lee Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Iseke, Red Deer, Alta. Miss Georgian Harper was guest soloist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length sheath gown in shimmering satin and featuring lace edging around the neckline and hemline. A full train was gathered at back waistline with shirring and tiny bows. Her four-tiered veil misted to her shoulders from a floral headpiece, and deep pink roses were in her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. J. Tambling, matron of bridesmaid, wore in floor-length sheath style gowns in deep pink satin with lace jackets en tone. They were matching floral headpieces and carried white carnations.

Mr. William Tambling was best man. Mr. Ron Stewart and Mr. Sam Ackema ushered guests to their pews.

Mr. James Kemp proposed the toast to the bride at a sit-down supper reception at the Red Lion Motor Inn. The bride presented her bouquet to the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Grace Ross.

For travelling the new Mrs. Iseke chose a pale green, two-piece suit in wool worsted. She wore matching accessories.

The newlyweds are now making their home in the Princess Patricia Apartments.

Here for the wedding were the groom's parents, sister, and brother Raymond all of Red Deer; Mr. Ian Iseke, groom's uncle and grandmother, Mrs. Ross, both of Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. W. Tambling, Port Hardy; Mr. and Mrs. S. Akema, Vancouver.

Mrs. Butt Wins Speech Contest

Mrs. H. Butt was named winner of the Arbutus Toastmistress Club's annual speech contest, held recently in the Blue Room. She received the Robertson Silver.

In second place was Mrs. C. M. Dowling and third was Mrs. W. Howes. Toastmistress Mrs. D. E. Pile introduced the competing speakers, which also included Mrs. G. L. Cook, Mrs. L. Halstrom, Mrs. S. M. McCulloch and Miss Tanga Irvine.

Timers for the contest were Mrs. P. Small and Mrs. D. E. Campbell and tellers were Mrs. R. S. Butt, Mrs. T. G. Smith and Mrs. H. Winston.

Mrs. M. F. J. Dearman, Mrs. Frank Hong, G. H. Love and W. Oliphant were judges.

During the evening, president Mrs. W. A. Ludlow introduced prospective members Mrs. J. A. Miller and Miss Mimi Brown. Also attending the meeting were Mrs. A. M. Reid, Mrs. D. Wende and Frank Hong.

Assault Adds To Term

Courtroom Parade

Wilkinson Road prison inmate Patrick Murphy was sentenced in central magistrate's court Wednesday to another 18 months in prison for assaulting prison laundry officer Thomas Day.

Murphy was sentenced after Magistrate J. A. Byers had considered a pre-sentence report. The magistrate said to Murphy: "There was no question of any provocation or any irregular or improper conduct by the guard."

Murphy had pleaded not guilty. Mr. Day said at the trial Murphy struck him in the face during a coffee break at the prison April 20.

The sentence will begin on the expiration of Murphy's present term, scheduled for June 6.

The bail of a man facing two charges of attempted murder was tripled to $15,000 by Magistrate William Ostler on application by prosecutor John MacIntyre.

Frank Joseph Bedry, also known as Frank Joseph Layton, is charged with attempting to murder on May 4 Mrs. Molly May Robertson, 911 McNaughton, and Constable Harry Hosdal.

Mr. MacIntyre asked that bail be set at $15,000.

A 53-year-old Duncan man was sentenced to 45 days in jail when he was found guilty of assaulting 78-year-old Ira Burleson at the old man's cabin at Lame Bay April 4.

Daniel Barrieau of Duncan had pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault causing bodily harm.

Mr. Burleson said he was in the custody of the Colwood RCMP and had been allowed to return to his cabin to clean it up. Barrieau, his son John and a third man came to the cabin carrying a bottle of wine.

REFUSED TO GO

"I said I was very busy," Mr. Burleson said. "I told them to take the bottle with them and clear out. They refused to go."

Mr. Burleson said he grabbed a bayonet and told them again to leave. Barrieau then grabbed Mr. Burleson's artificial leg and twisted it, forcing the elderly man to the floor of the cabin, court was told.

"John picked it (the bayonet) up and cut me a couple of times on the head," Mr. Burleson said. "Dan kicked and hit me."

He said he received three stitches in a cut on his face and also suffered two black eyes.

SUGGESTION DENIED

In cross-examination, Mr. Burleson denied a suggestion by Barrieau that he had made an indecent suggestion to his son.

Barrieau said in evidence his son had told him that "Burleson wanted him to do an indecent act with him."

He then visited Burleson with his son and a friend.

"Burleson said he was in trouble again with a boy and I said that's why I was there," Barrieau said.

Barrieau said he backhanded the complainant when Mr. Burleson had a bayonet in his hand but denied kicking him.

Bill Louis, 536 Johnson, was sentenced to one month in jail when he was found guilty of stealing groceries from The Bay, 1701 Douglas, April 28.

He was convicted of shoplifting last September.

Stephen Henry, 1882 Taylor, was fined $35 for being a minor in possession of liquor.

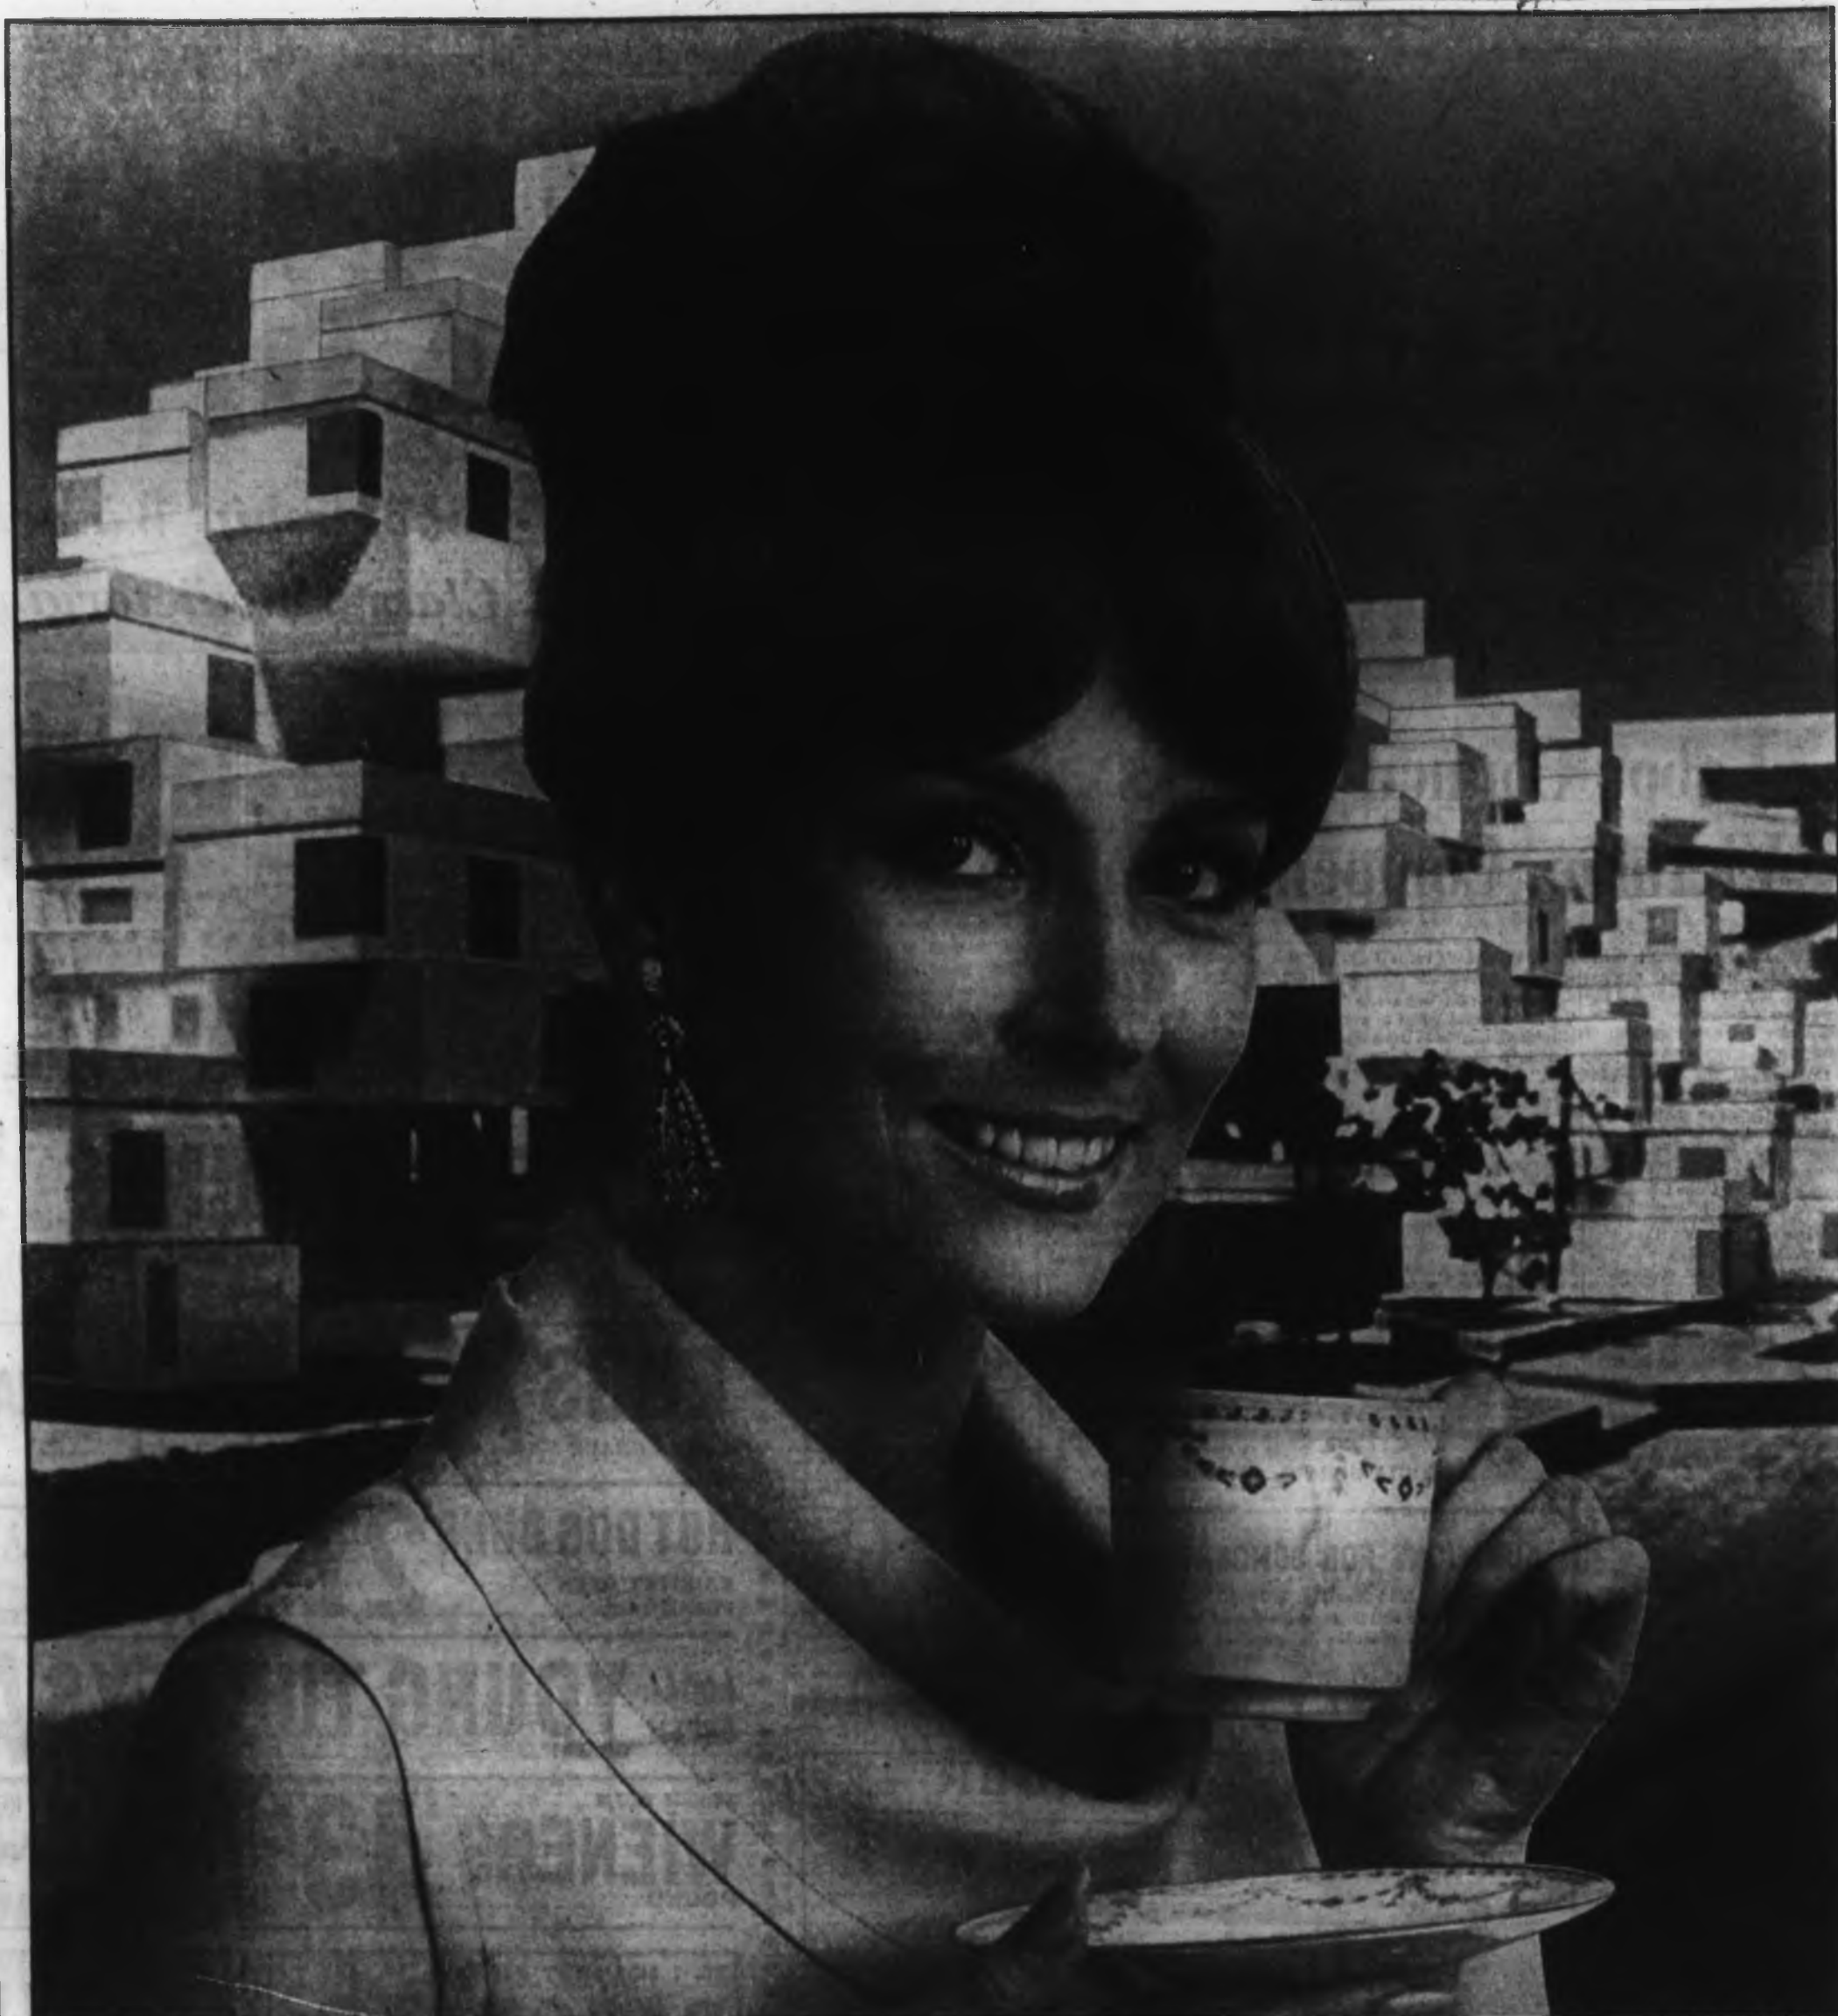

Toronto Scoffs At Money Idea

TORONTO (CP) — Controller Margaret Campbell, on the lookout for revenue, has suggested two drums with signs requesting donations be placed in the city hall foyer to help the city meet its bills. "We could ask the citizens that instead of buying cigarettes and liquor they could put money in here," Board of control voted against it.

Labor Council Attacks Vietnam, Compensation

Victoria Labor Council came out strongly Wednesday against the U.S. role in Vietnam and the inequities experienced by workers under the administration of workmen's compensation.

On Vietnam, the council delegates approved a resolution calling for Canadian affiliates of international unions to ask their international officers to bring pressure to bear on President Johnson of the United States to "cease bombing of Vietnam."

Secretary Lawrence Ryan said the president's policy was "at variance with world opinion."

LABOR 'CAPTIVE'

Edwin Haw said, "I feel the labor movement in the U.S. is the captive of the administration."

Delegate Robert Barrie said an appeal to the international union presidents would fall on deaf ears. "Capitalists are making money, and unemployment is declining as the result of the war."

The compensation discussion came over the report of a painter's union delegate on a painter, about 60 years of age, who had been hurt and was unable to resume work of his trade following an operation by a compensation-appointed doctor.

PENSION $7.60

This man, William Clifford, is receiving $7.60 a month compensation pension for himself and wife, the painter's delegate reported.

Mr. Ryan described the government action in delaying debate on a new compensation act during the last session as that of "a procrastinating government, that won't come to grips with the problem."

Mr. Haw said there are "all too many times when a worker is injured, unable to work again, and he is issued a paltry pension."

SEEK JUSTICE

The delegates unanimously passed a motion instructing the B.C. Federation of Labor to seek justice for the injured painter.

Approval was given to a motion asking the federation to undertake weekly radio programs and consider partnership or ownership to a radio station.

SUCCESS REPORTED

In other action, the council:

- Heard a report from Robert Barrie on the successful contract negotiation between the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers and the James Island Explosives division of Canadian Industries Ltd. for a two-year contract with an 18-per-cent increase and fringe benefits;

- Voted to send a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson, through the Canadian Labor Congress, endorsing Privy Council Chairman Walter Gordon's stand on Vietnam;

- Approved a motion to ask Tom Berger (NDP, Vancouver-Burrard) to speak at a future meeting;

- Discussed the "moonlighting" of a junior high school teacher-roofing contractor and declined action since neither he nor his critics, local shingle contractors, were union-affiliated.

Saanich Plan

Architects Indicated For Centre

The architectural firm of Wagg and Hambleton will probably design Saanich's first publicly-owned recreational centre, it was indicated Wednesday.

The Victoria architects were chosen by a committee of councillors and representatives of sports organizations to prepare drawings for a $420,000 arena at Burnside and Tillicum.

The committee's recommendation will go to a meeting of Saanich council May 29 for rejection or approval.

Coun. Leslie Passmore, chairman of Saanich's special projects committee, said the architects, if they are approved by council, will be asked to start on the drawings as soon as possible. He hoped the arena would be open near the end of the 1968 skating season.

Six architectural firms were interviewed by the committee.

Two Firemen Hurt In Vancouver Blaze

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two firemen were injured battling a two-alarm blaze that caused $100,000 damage to a Chinatown building housing the Shanghai Junk nightclub.

Cause of the blaze was attributed to a grease fire in the club's kitchen.

Flames shot up through an aluminum ventilator. The heat melted the metal and the fire spread throughout the top floor of the two-story building, warden Ken Hill said. Fifty firemen fought the blaze.

Acting Capt. Robert Sullivan fractured a leg when he tripped while stepping from his fire rig and was run over by it.

Fireman Don MacKenzie burned his right foot when he stepped into a pot of boiling water while standing on the stove in the kitchen.

Sewer Talks Started

Representatives of the View Royal, Colwood, Langford and Metcheson districts Wednesday night started formal discussion on financing sewers in their areas.

The meeting followed a recent warning from Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical health officer, that the lack of sewers in those districts could be the source of a major disease outbreak.

The representatives of each of the districts were given copies of the Greater Victoria sewer study, a document which suggests about $20,000,000 be spent extending and improving waste disposal in this area.

Present at the meeting was an official of the regional board, who explained how sewers could be financed by changing the board's letters patent.

The group decided to meet again May 31.

Papers Merge World Editions

PARIS (UPI) — The international editions of both The New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune-Washington Post announced they are combining May 22 to publish a single newspaper, the International Herald Tribune.

The new newspaper, the announcement said, "will be distributed in 72 countries throughout the world with the largest circulation of any American newspaper ever printed abroad."

Florence Hit By New Floods

FLORENCE, Italy (Reuters) — Flood waters up to three feet deep covered the streets here after 24 hours of non-stop rain. Flooding was blamed on the state of drains still blocked after last November's disastrous floods.

Names in the News

Kennedy Won $20 on Ike

NEW YORK — John F. Kennedy won a bet while waiting for the Eleanor Roosevelt funeral services in 1962 to begin. Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt has disclosed.

She wrote in a magazine that the president told her husband: "I'll bet you $20 that in five minutes after he arrives (Dwight) Eisenhower will have me backed against the wall giving advice about how to run the country."

Barely were the words out of his mouth when Ike arrived. He shook hands all around, then made straight for the president, steering him into a corner.

LOS ANGELES — Mistakenly municipal judge Noel Cannon completed two months of duty in felony court by urging women to carry pistols and halpines to protect "their lives and virtue." She said the court showed a surprising amount of crime against women.

VANCOUVER — Constable Patrick Hatch, a city policeman for 11 years, has been suspended after being charged with appearing in an obscene performance at the Pink Pussycat discotheque. The manager and two girls also were charged after a police raid broke up a private stag party.

BERLIN — A West German court ruled Dutch Communist Marinus van der Lubbe, 24, should not have been executed as the assassin in the 1933 Reichstag fire. But it added he did confess to arson and should have been jailed for eight years.

LONDON — The Queen said she will formally invest Prince Charles as Prince of Wales in a ceremony at Caernarvon Castle, North Wales, in the summer of 1969. He will be a few months short of his 21st birthday.

NEW YORK — Pat Ward, 33, a principal in the Mickey Jolke vice scandal of 1952, has been offered a job as a church counselor for teen-agers. The former call girl had told a weekend TV program she needed work.

VANCOUVER — Premier Bennett, in defiance of city council which told Mayor Tom Campbell to stay out of financial negotiations for a new First Narrows crossing, said he will deal only with the mayor on the matter.

ATHENS — Bishop Ieronymos Kotsonis, former personal chaplain to King Constantine, was enthroned as archbishop and primate of the Greek Orthodox Church. He announced a program of "profound reforms" and a move toward closer ties with the rest of Christianity.

Judge Cannon

NEW YORK — Edward Hopper, whose brooding, shadowed canvases of American life brought him a place among the century's master painters, died.

VANCOUVER — J. W. Botha of Oshawa, was elected to his second four-year term as president of the Seventh-day Adventist church in Canada. Carl Kuntz of Oshawa was elected secretary-treasurer.

LONDON, Ont. — Alvin Hamilton, former minister of agriculture, said he will wait until the "time is more propitious" before announcing if he will seek the Conservative leadership.

MOSCOW — First space Yuri Gagarin indicated Russia has grounded the Soyuz spacecraft program until the recent death of cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov has been fully understood.

NEW ORLEANS — FBI agent Regis Kennedy, ordered to appear before a grand jury in the Kennedy death probe, exercised the executive privilege of avoiding testimony on some matters. But the panel said it was satisfied with his statements.

OTTAWA — Trade Minister Winters says he will suggest to Quebec and Montreal governments that special assistance be given Canadians unable to pay the price of admission in Expo.

CHICAGO — American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell has been sentenced to three months in jail and fined $500 on three charges stemming from a disturbance last summer.

QUEBEC — Joseph D. Regis, 66, former cabinet minister and one-time chief organizer for the Union Nationale, has been acquitted of a charge of influence-peddling in the 1960s.

Barbie Bandits Bit Young

IRVINGTON, N.J. (UPI) — The two little girls seemed just as nice as sugar and spice, but they weren't.

Police said Wednesday the "Barbie Doll bandits" — two girls aged 8 and 11 — were conducting a burglary crime wave that netted them $500 in cash and $350 in goods in a month.

The girls, one from Irvington, the other from Newark, told police they first stole several bicycles but found "there was more money in robbing houses than trying to sell the bikes."

In the first home they broke into they took $133 worth of costume jewelry and two Barbie dolls. A short time later they entered another home and took a piggy bank and an undetermined amount of cash.

Twice they entered an apartment above a candy store and got a total of $240 in cash which the owner thought she had left on a train to New York.

The last entry was at a home where the girls broke the glass of the front door and swept the glass under the rug. They took $308 in cash there.

The Irvington girl was caught May 4 when she returned to a house where she had stolen a bicycle the day before. A neighbor recognized the girl and called police.

The Newark girl at first denied any connection with the crimes, but several days later admitted she was involved.

Both were charged with juvenile delinquency and released in their parents' custody.

The girls said they spent all the money on several "wild spending trips" in downtown Newark where they bought clothes, candy and had their hair done, police said.

Prove it for yourself! With the PASTILS/808 Reducing Plan in the long lasting economy pack, from your drugist today. You'll like it...you'll like yourself too when the pounds start rolling off!

Pastils/808

Reducing Plan

A near-effortless way to lose weight.

Mrs. Moore's boys are thinking of buying her a Stanfield's shirt.

Maybe then she'll stop wearing theirs.

That's the problem with Stanfield's shirts. They're good-looking, comfortable, well-tailored, long-wearing—and the ladies just can't leave them alone. So if there's a woman in your house, better choose your Stanfield's shirts in pairs. Otherwise she'll be wearing yours. The ladies know a good thing when they see it.

Young Chip sports about in Stanfield's short sleeve Crew Neck Pop Shirt, a fleecy shirt with patented Lycra reinforced neckband that always holds its shape. In a wide range of colours, Stanfield's Pop Shirt (666), Sizes S. M. L. is $4.50. Also available with long sleeves, or with mock turtle neck and short sleeves, in S. M. L., about $4.95 each.

Bud Moore plays the game in comfort wearing Stanfield's mock turtle Pullover Shirt of light 50% Fortrel, 50% cotton fabric. Collar is elasticized and Lycra reinforced. Nylon reinforced underarm gusset. Penguin motif. Wide range of colours (2861) about $3.95, sizes S. M. L.

Pop's a golf buff. He tees-off in Stanfield's Grand Slam® Golf Shirt of 50% Fortrel and 50% Cotton. It has a three-button neck and short sleeves with a patented underarm gusset that gives unrestricted freedom of movement. The Grand Slam Golf Shirt (280) is machine-washable and colour-fast. S. M. L. and X.L. in a wide range of colours at $5.50. Look for the Penguin motif.

The living's easy for Joe Moore in Stanfield's Torso style Pop Shirt (111) Fleece lined, premium quality fabric of 50% Fortrel, 50% Cotton. Lycra reinforced neckband is guaranteed to hold its shape. Comes in a wide range of colours. $3.50 in sizes S. M. L.

And Mrs. Moore? Today she just happens to be wearing one of Bud's Turtleneck Shirts with long sleeves. (4640) about $3.95 in S. M. L. It doesn't quite fit, she says, but it sure is comfortable.

North Korea Breaks College Spy Group

SEOUL (Reuters) — The Republic of South Korea Army said Wednesday it has uncovered an 18-man Communist spy ring run by a medical college professor under orders from North Korea. The group allegedly radioed information to North Korea for six years.

Red-Guard Mob Traps Canadian Reporter

PEKING (Reuters) — An angry crowd of Red Guards today demonstrated outside the house of the Reuters correspondent in Peking and trapped a Canadian newspaper man in his car for 30 minutes. David Oancia of the Toronto Globe and Mail sat inside his tiny car smoking as the chanting crowd of about 200 surged around it before he was eventually allowed to drive away when many of the demonstrators left. Shouting anti-British slogans, the crowd blocked the narrow street outside the house and threw pebbles at his correspondent when he went up to the roof to look down at the scene below. Oancia had just visited Reuters rented house and office when the demonstration began. Oancia had taken photographs of slogans plastered over the doors and walls of the house and office. The slogans said: "British imperialists get out of Hong Kong." The crowd gathered around us and after a few minutes a Red Guard leader wearing a bearded arm band arrived and began leading the crowd in an anti-British chant. The crowd grew rapidly and when Oancia entered his car they closed around him. When I tried to photograph the car, fists were pushed in front of the camera lens. The chanting mob pressed around Oancia's blue Volvo wagon, shaking their fists at him and rocking the light car from side to side. Oancia eventually was allowed to drive away after half an hour, when the crowd thinned. Official reports said some 400,000 persons took part Tuesday in demonstrations outside the office of the British charge d'affaires to protest the riot-quelling action of British authorities in Hong Kong.

Students Invited to Dabber 'Do'

Thirty-two high school art students will make the "Mini" meet in Victoria Saturday.

Thomas Plimley Ltd. has bought four white mini-Austin cars and has told the students they can paint them any way they like.

The artists will be teamed from Oak Bay, Victoria, Esquimalt and Mount Douglas and Mount View high schools.

Pagoda Project

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Chinese community of Vancouver will build a 60-foot pagoda as its centennial project. The structure is to cost $150,000.

That means there'll be a team from each Greater Victoria municipality, explained Jack Batey, general manager of the firm. The Mount Douglas and Mount View students will jointly represent Saanich.

They'll start painting at 11 a.m. in the company's showroom and judging by three local artists will occur at 3 p.m.

All of the "mod Minis" will be entered in Monday's Victoria Day parade. Then they go back to Plimley's where Mr. Batey will have a stockpile of paint-remover.

Meetings

THURSDAY

- Rotary Club of Victoria, Empire, 12:10 p.m.
- Kiwanis Club of Oak Bay, Oak Bay Beach Hotel, 6:15 p.m.
- Y's Men's Club of Victoria, YMCA, 6:30 p.m.
- Victoria Gladstons and Dahlia Society, 1947 Cook, 7:30 p.m.

They'll See Russian Life

A University of Victoria student will spend three weeks in Russia with 29 other Canadians on an exchange program this summer.

Jack MacDonald, 20, of 20 Armure Place, left Montreal Wednesday and will travel more than 11,000 miles, visiting Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev, the Black Sea and other points.

Students pay their own traveling expenses and Soviet universities pay the costs of internal travel, food and accommodation.

Late in the summer, 30 Russian students will return the visit by coming to see Canada.

The exchange program is arranged by the Canadian Union of Students, to foster international understanding.

The Radish Trick

me of wormy radishes and have asked for the name of some grub-killer chemical to put in the soil. Actually, I don't know of ANY preparation which would be entirely safe to use on such a quick-growing vegetable as the radish. I imagine granular diazinon would be about the safest of the soil poisons, but I prefer to rely upon speed to give us worm-free radishes. We grow 'em fast and pull them before the worms can get around to them.

Make Time for Leisure

● Eat your lunch the evening before. You're going to eat it as left-overs anyway, so why not enjoy it while it's still warm.

● Make only one trip to the store a week. Send the kids to school every day.

● Take off your car wheels and wheel the body of your car four stacks of cement blocks. This act alone could guarantee you enough time to earn your doctorate degree in metallurgy.

It stands to reason, if you give your car wheels extra weight, some efficiency in your house, whip the kids into shape and concentrate on trying to conserve your precious time, you'll have time for leisure . . . even if it kills you.

Not Marrying Kind

No one seems to be quite sure which fiancé Jayne Mansfield has brought back from Britain. This dear girl can walk into a room engaged to one man and come out married to another. To read about her or look at the way she dresses you'd think she was someone from outer space. But when you talk with her, no one is more charming. It's a puzzlement.

Pat O'Brien was talking of the Dodger fan who wept up a storm at his daughter's wedding. "It's almost too much to have a daughter, Sandy Koufax and Maury Wills, all in the same year." I'd like to see Pat in a movie, wouldn't you? His old pal Spencer Tracy can make a comeback (with Katherine Hepburn in Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?) so can Pat who has been touring in some plays with his wife.

Jubilee Issue Revived

The controversial issue of whether doctors should be elected to the board of Royal Jubilee Hospital will be aired again at a special membership meeting June 14.

However, it is unlikely the question will be resolved. At the hospital's annual meeting March 15, members voted to ask their board to explore with Health Minister Black the possibility of giving doctors the right to seek election to the board.

IN 90 DAYS

Trustees were asked to report back in 90 days.

Such a move would require amending the legislation under which Royal Jubilee Hospital was incorporated.

Mr. Black, however, has been in hospital — Royal Jubilee — for several weeks and it is understood he has not had time to attend to the matter.

The hospital's board has set up a special committee to discuss the question with the minister.

Hospital Choice Shortly

The new administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital will be named "within 10 days," board chairman Courtney Haddock said Wednesday night.

The appointee, who will be a doctor with experience in hospital administration, will replace George Masters, who retired May 1 after 17 years as Royal Jubilee's administrator.

FIVE INTERVIEWS

Royal Jubilee's board has interviewed five candidates for the job.

St. Joseph's Hospital also will have a doctor as its administrative head within the next two weeks. Dr. E. G. Q. Van Tilburg, now medical director, is taking over the duties of Sister Mary Lucia, who retires as administrator June 1.

Tea Party Needs Helpers

Oak Bay needs more helpers for the annual tea party June 3 and 4.

An "action office" has been opened and committee chairmen have been named.

General chairman is Bert Kent, who said Tuesday a secretary is on duty from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily at 1534 Monterey Avenue, just off Oak Bay Avenue.

Cubans Frequent Surplus Stores

WASHINGTON (AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has told a congressional subcommittee Cuban United Nations delegates have been buying light military equipment from U.S. Army surplus stores. Hoover said items included combat boots, jungle hammocks, holsters, cartridge belts and bayonets.

Sidney Case Near Jury

Defence witnesses painted a picture Wednesday of a depressed and unhappy person in the trial of a Sidney labourer on a charge of attempted murder, in the third day of the spring assizes in the Victoria Law Courts.

Parents and friends of Kenneth Wayne Ingram of 3988 John Road in Sidney testified to the accused man's heavy drinking habits, fits of depression, and to domestic trouble on the night of Oct. 8, 1966.

Ingram is charged with shooting a civilian guard and perceiving the hat of an RCMP constable in a shooting affray in the RCMP office the following morning.

Memory Gaps

Dr. Edmund Miller of Riverview Hospital at Esquimalt, a psychiatrist, testified Ingram was an alcoholic, that he "feared suicidal tendencies," and had "long gaps in his memory" as the result of drinking.

Dr. Miller said he had kept Ingram in Riverview until he felt he was fit to stand trial. He said he felt that drinking and domestic trouble had caused a tension that was triggered by the jail guard's slamming the door in his face.

The Crown attempted to show that remarks made by Ingram in the hospital subsequent to the shooting showed recollection of the events, "consistent with awareness."

Not Satisfied

Dr. Miller's answer did not satisfy Mr. Justice F. Craig Munro of Vancouver, the presiding judge.

"You are begging the question," he said. "Assuming the evidence is correct, what is your conclusion of recollection and awareness?"

"He was aware," the doctor answered.

In answer to a further question by the Crown, he said Ingram would also know it was wrong, and that it would be improbable he would be incapable of forming a conclusion in all of his acts.

Direct Question

To a direct question by the judge as to whether, in his opinion, Ingram was insane as defined in the Criminal Code, when he committed the acts, Dr. Miller answered, "No."

Mr. Justice Munro permitted reading into evidence the testimony of Dr. Douglas Alcorn, a Victoria psychiatrist, given at the preliminary hearing. The doctor is in Tunisia and will be absent from Canada until June 12, the defence submitted.

Dr. Alcorn's testimony said Ingram was not "fully capable of appreciating the nature and quality of his act."

To Jury Today

The Crown did not submit rebuttal, making it probable the case will go to the jury this morning.

Evidence in the trial so far has been that Ingram appeared in the RCMP station at about 2 a.m. last Oct. 8, and asked to be lodged in jail for drunkenness, but was sent home in a taxi.

Witnesses have testified that he resappeared at the station about 6 a.m. and when the civilian guard, William McAuley, refused to open the door for him, he broke the pane of glass in the door and shot Mr. McAuley in the side, then locked him in a cell, shot out the lights, tore out the telephone cord and exchanged shots with Constable Robert Bouck when he returned to the station.

Four Charges

There are four charges against Ingram: attempted murder with respect to each of the men, and discharging a firearm with intent to wound each of the men.

A further charge of breaking and entry and theft involves a rifle and ammunition and other articles from a Sidney hardware store.

Crown prosecutor is Louis Lindholm, and Lloyd McKenzie is counsel for the defence.

Detectives Face Perjury Counts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two private detectives, Gavin Neil Ferguson and Tony Petrie, were committed to high court trial charged with perjury, conspiring to commit perjury and conspiring to obstruct justice in connection with a divorce case.

The View from the Forbidden City

Mao's Foes Plotted His Death

Why China's rulers have torn their huge nation apart in so-called "cultural revolution" is explained by top Chinese leaders in their first interviews in two years. They disclose sensational charges of a plot to kill Mao Tse-tung — linked with efforts to turn China to more flexible relations toward Russia and the U.S. This is Simon Malley's fifth exclusive article from inside Peking's Forbidden City.

By SIMON MALLEY
Fifth of 10 Parts

Enemies of Mao Tse-tung plotted to eliminate him last year, by assassination if necessary, top allies of the Chinese Communist party chief told me in Peking, in the first interviews they have given in two years.

In a China where the 73-year-old "father of the nation" is revered as a fount of supreme wisdom, the accusation carries the emotional force of a plot to murder a god.

The alleged plot was described to me by Chen Po-ta, top confidante of Mao, who now presides over the "cultural revolution" campaign to disgrace Mao's enemies and immortalize his tough-minded policies.

Chen Po-ta's account was seconded by Hsieh Fuchai, minister of interior (police and security). Like other top Chinese leaders, they broke the long standing news blackout to receive me in their offices inside the walled, Forbidden City of Peking.

Speaking as leading supporters of Mao in the internal struggle, they told me that Stalin's enemies "probably murdered" the Soviet leader, and that they think Mao's would-be rivals for power in China planned the same fate for him.

The overthrow was scheduled for February, 1966, on the 10th anniversary of Soviet ex-Premier Nikita Khrushchev's historic denunciation of Stalin, Chen Po-ta said.

Recalling that no one in Russia dared challenge Stalin while he lived, the quiet-spoken, deliberate Chen Po-ta drew a direct parallel to Mao's China.

'Great Leap' Ridiculed

"Likewise," said Chen Po-ta, "the plot in China developed along the same line, with the same intentions. The traitors could not succeed as long as Mao Tse-tung remained the red sun shining most brightly in our hearts and guiding our revolution."

Mao's allies accuse China's President Liu Shao-chi of plotting the overthrow, together with Teng Hsiao-peng, secretary general of the Communist Party, and Peng Chen, ex-mayor of Peking.

At stake, they told me, was not only China's internal program as an all-out rigid Communist state, but also China's active pursuit of eventual world revolution.

(The once-honored Liu, an old comrade of Mao, favored different tactics on the road to the goal all shared — to build a powerful China.)

Chen said the plotters used plays, films, legends and fables to ridicule Mao Tse-tung and especially his all-out economic effort known as the Great Leap Forward.

Legendary stories about ancient China were told to sell the idea that "the Leap Forward was a total economic disaster because it was based on economic improvisation ... devised by leaders who were amnesiacs, fools or imbeciles ...," Chen said.

When they had discredited and ousted Mao Tse-tung, the plotters planned to install Peng Chen as party chairman. They intended to replace Premier Zhou En-lai and replace him with Teng Hsiao-peng.

Posters Replace Rioting

From AP-Reuters

HONG KONG — Eight hundred Chinese marched on the British government house in Hong Kong today and plastered posters on its walls and gates while singing Communist Chinese songs and chanting quotations of Mao Tse-tung.

Police and military sentries maintained guard at the gate and inside the courtyard. Police tried to disperse the demonstrators from putting up their posters, but there were no clashes. The demonstrators started putting up the posters after the British colonial governor, Sir David Trench, did not personally accept their protests of what they called persecution of Hong Kong's Chinese.

FOURTH DAY

Anti-British demonstrations continued in Peking for the fourth straight day in support of the anti-British Chinese in Hong Kong.

Demonstrators paraded outside the British legation in the Chinese capital and an official of the legation, reached by telephone from Tokyo, said there was no attempt to invade the grounds. He said Chinese police kept watch at the legation.

Britain protested Tuesday the failure of the Chinese government to protect British personnel and property in Peking and Shanghai against demonstrators. The British consular offices in Shanghai were sealed.

10 INJURED

On Wednesday, 30 police and as many rioters and spectators had been injured here.

Meanwhile, herds of Chinese chanting anti-British slogans marched past the British mission in Peking Wednesday in a fresh protest against the handling of the Hong Kong riots.

Anthony Grey, Reuters news agency correspondent in the Chinese capital, said the numbers seemed even greater than the 400,000 who marched past the mission Tuesday. He said the total appeared likely to reach 1,000,000 by the end of the day.

Second Sick Child, Mother in Hiding

VANCOUVER (CP)—A second Jehovah's Witness youngster requiring treatment that may involve blood transfusions has gone into hiding with his mother, resulting in fears by welfare officials that there could be a panic among parents in the religious sect.

Gregory Gordon Standal, 5, was taken from hospital in neighboring North Vancouver Saturday by his mother, Frances Standal, a 26-year-old divorcee.

Gordon is suffering a kidney ailment similar to that of Miriam Myllyniemi, 15, who fled hospital in Vancouver May 9 to avoid further blood transfusions.

DENIED CARE. Donald Bingham, provincial superintendent of child welfare, said in an interview Wednesday that current panic among Jehovah's Witnesses could lead to all the sect's children being denied medical care.

He said such a move could result in lesser illnesses becoming serious.

"Something must be done to halt what is becoming a serious tragedy," he said.

WON'T TAKE CHANCE

Mrs. Standal said she wants her son to get the care he needs but "I dare not take a chance on hospitals here and my losing custody because the doctors want to give him a transfusion."

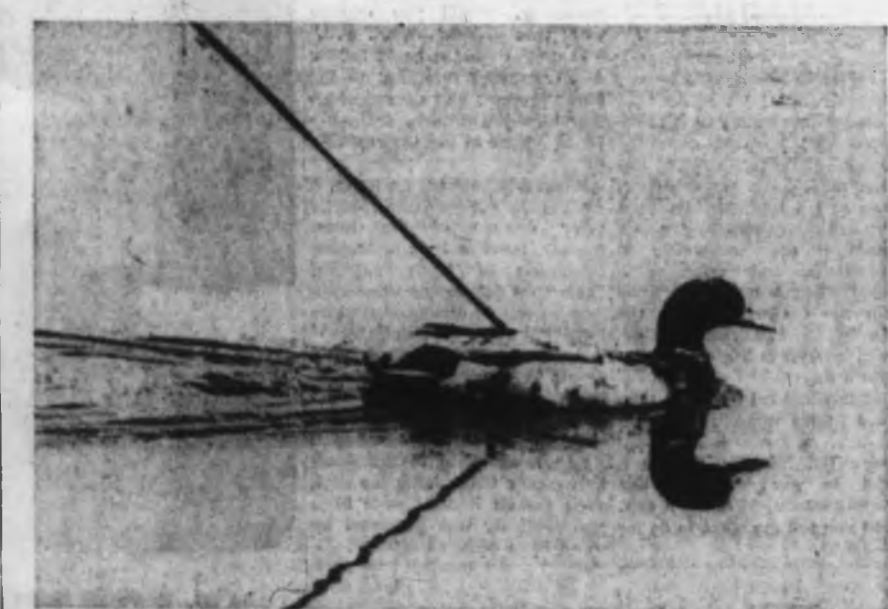

She was referring to a family court decision last Friday that awarded custody of Miriam to the Children's Aid Society to ensure she would get treatment. Dorothy Myllyniemi of Penticton, Miriam's mother, had applied to the court for custody of her child.

COULD ADVANCE

In Miriam's case, doctors said her condition could be fatal if she is not treated within a month for the ailment known as uremia. Doctors said Gordon may lose one kidney and that infection may advance to the other if he is not treated within a week.

ARAB FORCES BATTLE-READY

UN Troops 'Won't Budge'

OTTAWA (CP)—The United Nations Emergency Force in Egypt will not budge from its present positions, a highly placed source said Wednesday.

The source said it would be foolish for the force to give in after more than 10 years of keeping the peace on the Israeli-Egyptian border.

CAIRO (Reuters)—Tension rose throughout the Middle East today as the United Arab Republic and two other Arab countries put their armed forces on combat readiness for possible clashes with Israel.

The U.A.R. ordered land, sea and air forces into a state of "fighting preparedness" and at the same time Wednesday asked the United Nations to pull back its peacekeeping force from the U.A.R.-Israeli frontier to clear the way for possible fighting.

At the UN in New York, UN Secretary-General U Thant said that if Egypt demanded the withdrawal of the UN force it would have to leave. He described the situation as "potentially very grave" and said he was seeking clarification of the U.A.R.'s attitude towards the UN force. (See also page 23)

TRIP CANCELLED

Thant cancelled a trip to London and Brussels because of what he called "the potentially very grave" situation in the Middle East.

Canada has 800 men in the UN Emergency Force which has operated in the U.A.R. near the Israeli border for 10 years.

There are contingency plans for fast evacuation of the Canadians on UN duty in the Middle East in an emergency.

The Associated Press reported from Cairo that today's edition of the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram says the Yugoslav contingent of the UN force moved out early Wednesday.

In New York, a UN headquarters official said there had been no withdrawal of any UN forces from the armistice line up to late Wednesday afternoon, New York time.

'DANGEROUS'

Meanwhile, it was announced in Israel that Premier Levi Eshkol discussed the "dangerous significance" of the Arab buildup during a meeting of Parliament's foreign affairs and security committee.

Radvanyi

Hungary Envoy Defects

WASHINGTON (LAT)—János Radvanyi, Hungary's ranking diplomat in the U.S., has asked and will be granted asylum in the United States, the state department announced Wednesday.

Radvanyi, 45, Hungary's charge d'affaires here since 1962, is the first chief of a Communist diplomatic mission in this country to defect.

State department press officer Robert McCloskey said Radvanyi decided he wanted to become a permanent resident of the United States.

IT'S TRADITIONAL

"Our position will be in accordance with the American tradition of extending refuge to those who seek it," McCloskey said. State department sources said Radvanyi had defected for "personal as well as political reasons," but did not elaborate.

Radvanyi could not be reached for comment. An official at the Hungarian embassy said he was not there.

As Hungary's ranking diplomatic official in this country, and as a member of Hungary's foreign service since 1947 and a member of the Hungarian Communist party for some 25 years, Radvanyi presumably has a wealth of information of interest on Hungary's internal affairs and foreign relations.

Nothing's Plain About Montcalm

By ALAN HARVEY

PARIS (Special)—A latter-day Montcalm is heading for Canada, bent on peaceful conquest.

He is Charles, Marquis de Montcalm, seventh in direct descent from the famous General who fought and died on the Plains of Abraham. A Paris financier, he has heard about Canada's Centennial celebrations and plans a tourist trip this summer. His brother, Count Robert, is going separately.

'Too Sleepy?'

The marquis will visit Quebec City, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and probably Niagara Falls. Meanwhile, expert restorers at Versailles are refurbishing priceless Montcalm relics for display in Canada, and the marquis asks what Toronto is doing to compete with Montreal.

"Is Toronto too sleepy?" he inquires playfully. "What are you going to do to compare with Expo? Why have you let yourselves be short-circuited by Montreal?"

In the same lighthearted way, the marquis offers a challenge to Canadian womanhood. A wealthy bachelor, with a chateau in the south of France and a household of history stowed away at his Paris apartment on the Avenue Rodin, he hopes to pick out a "jolie petite Canadienne" during his trip. Finding a wife, he says, is indispensable.

The marquis is slender, dark and dapper. He is reticent about age and occupation, but looks about 45 and dabbles in business and finance. He speaks vivaciously, darting quick glances around him. Seen in profile, sitting at ease in a Paris hotel lobby, he might easily turn back the clock and the centuries, reminding the impressionable interviewer of Canadian history's most gallant loser, the proud and polished aristocrat, incorruptibly devoted to Crown and country, who commanded French armies in a battle that decided the mastery of a continent.

Hardly Dull

Canada's past is often dismissed as dull. Surely there are few figures of romance more compelling than the mercurial Montcalm, sighing for the olive groves of his native province, and his Eng-

Rebel Gordon Mulling Martyr's Role

By RON COLLISTER

Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Vietnam rebel Walter Gordon is pondering if he can stay in the cabinet after Wednesday's humiliation at the hands of both the cabinet and the party caucus.

"He may be in the mood to make a martyr of himself," a party source said Wednesday night.

But the general feeling was that there is no limit to the number of rebuffs that Mr. Gordon can absorb and that he will hold on and fight.

Mr. Gordon, faced with his great decision, went to Expo in Montreal to get lost in the crowds and to think about it.

Prime Minister Pearson warned him twice, first at the cabinet and then in the caucus, that it he didn't agree with government policy he must quit.

It was spelled out, too, that if he disagrees publicly again he will be out of the cabinet, period.

The cabinet rebuff was easier for Mr. Gordon to swallow than the rebuff given him at the caucus.

Mr. Pearson, with Mr. Gordon present, told the rank-and-file of the party that the rebel minister must go along with policy or quit.

Mr. Gordon, according to reports, paled, but did not say anything in his defence.

Woman Killed

'We Heard a Smash And Saw Car Fly'

By MARIE CADORETTE

COBBLE HILL — An 83-year-old Victoria woman was killed in a car accident here Wednesday.

Lillian Ory, 236 Michigan, was killed when a car in which she was a passenger smashed into another vehicle near Fisher Road, on the Trans-Canada Highway. Her daughter Mattie Louise Ory, 44, was injured. Police said she was the driver of the 1962 model car.

Also injured were occupants of the other car, G. W. Roberts and his wife Carrie, both 70, from Campbell River. The three are in hospital. One witness to the accident, A. S. Rabi, was driving a transport truck at the time.

Mr. Rabi, a resident of Victoria, was heading toward Duncan. He said a black car pulled out to pass him near Fisher Road.

He said he was going about 50 miles per hour. He said he saw the car spin out of control, crash into another vehicle heading south, and roll into a nearby ditch.

Two other witnesses, Ian Babin, 18, and Alec McKay, 15, both of Cobble Hill, were walking south.

They were on their way home when they saw one car pull out to pass.

Alec McKay said he saw one of the cars spin out of control and crash into another vehicle heading south, and roll into a nearby ditch.

"We heard a smash and saw a car fly into the air. Glass, chrome and metal flew all over the road. We ran down the road to see if we could help."

North Cowichan Council

Crofton May Get Basin

DUNCAN — North Cowichan council has made first steps to acquire upland property for a boat basin at the Crofton waterfront, from Pacific Logging.

The boat basin has been proposed by the Crofton Retirees' Association which has been carrying out extensive studies leading to the project, which would cost about $75,000.

The cost for the basin would be borne by the two senior governments and the local government with the federal government paying the largest portion.

A few years ago Pacific Logging tried to establish a booming ground at the same site, but it was stopped by council because of strong opposition from Crofton residents.

In reply to the council's query whether or not the company would be willing to sell the piece of land, the company made a counter proposal.

J. J. Ayers, manager of the company's property and development department, stated "we are not overly interested in disposing of the property on a strict cash basis, but we definitely would be interested in trading for forested land of equal value."

The company proposal will be studied.

Another important vote is looming in the municipality, and taxpayers will go to the polls and decide June 17 on a proposed $465,000 sewer bylaw.

About 500 homes would be served by the system.

Involved are areas at Gibbins Road, Sherman Road, Phillips Street, May Street and in the vicinity of Mount Pleasant Junior High School.

Some residents in that area several weeks ago expressed interest in joining the City of Duncan but no tangible moves have been made since.

Reeve Donald Morton said public meetings will be held to discuss all details of the proposed sewer system.

For the past 10 years the Duncan Kiwanis Ambulance Society has been hoping for a permanent home for its vehicles, and society chairman George Sinden asked council for financial support for a new building.

Last week the ambulance quarters had to be vacated and present facilities are only temporary.

Mr. Sinden suggested a three-way proposition between the municipality, the City of Duncan and the society, to raise enough money for the building near the Legion Hall.

Quoting the top price of about $30,000 for a structure that would have three ambulance bays, a meeting-room and a basement for storage, the society chairman said the price would depend on the type of construction.

Duncan council a few weeks ago decided to offer the ambulance a piece of land for the proposed building on Canada Avenue, but Mr. Sinden said he had not received anything in writing.

Commenting on the proposed three bays for vehicles, he forecast considerable growth which would require the purchase of a third ambulance.

Also planned for the new building are apartments on the first floor, but they are not included in the original price.

Mr. Sinden told council his society plans a membership drive, and every resident within the area covered by the local ambulance service will be eligible to join.

Membership fee for a family would range between $5 and $8 and would cover all costs.

The service area of society here reaches from the Malahat to Shawanigan Lake, Duncan, Paldi and the southern portion of the North Cowichan municipality.

Mr. Sinden said the membership system has worked well in other Vancouver Island communities and most ambulances are subsidized by municipal governments.

Reeve Donald Morton said with the advent of regional districts the ambulance service could be handled on a regional basis with several centres forming an ambulance association.

In the meantime the local society's request will be studied by a committee.

In other business council also:

● Was told by Reeve Morton to think over a proposal by the Cowichan Agricultural Society which suggested that council assume ownership of the Cowichan Exhibition Grounds to simplify matters.

● Received a request for financial assistance for purchasing a new SPCA truck.

● Referred to committee a request from Chemainus Ratepayers for road improvements at Chemainus.

Arena Clears Legal Hurdles

NORTH COWICHAN — All legal problems have been solved and the controversial $330,000 ice skating arena at Fuller's Lake will be completed by the end of this year.

This was the optimistic message Peter Blewett of Vancouver gave members of the North Cowichan Recreation Commission Wednesday night.

Mr. Blewett is an architect from Wade, Shuckell, Armour and Blewett of Vancouver and Victoria.

Asked by commission chairman Owen Dennis Hogan if the amount of money voted for by residents in the northern part of the municipality will cover the cost, Mr. Blewett answered, "I think we have enough."

"As far as prices go now, I don't think we have to ask for more money but a final answer I shall not be able to give until we have carried out a pre-tender analysis."

Owen Hogan said, "We have inspected the plans and we are quite happy that the community finally will get its ice-skating arena."

"We shall have the arena by the end of our centennial year."

A first vote on the arena took place over a year ago when it was included in a $700,000 composite recreation referendum which was defeated mainly by residents in the southern portion of the municipality.

Following the defeat a special recreation area was formed in the northern portion, and in June of last year another vote was successful.

One resident in the southern district challenged the validity of the bylaw.

A B.C. Supreme Court ruling decided in favor of the municipality, and so did the B.C. Court of Appeal.

Nanaimo District Faces $3,000,000 School Vote

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — School District 68 may have a $3,000,000 referendum in December, board chairman Bill Lerch said Wednesday. He told school trustees the school population showed a jump from 7,900 to 9,100 during September's count.

This was due to the closing of St. Anne's convent and the instituting of a kindergarten program, he explained. He said the normal increase of 400 is anticipated for this September.

The referendum would be for building of a new high school in the south, possibly Cedar or South Wellington, and for expansion of the proposed high school in Wellington.

The Wellington school's tenders will be opened Friday at 6 p.m.

New members of the college committee were announced at the meeting. They will serve on an advisory committee to the school board, and are additional to existing committees. Chairman of the new committee is Jack Whillam.

Other members are: George Lawler, Larry Thomas, Frank Ney, Ron McInnes, Ian Hancock and Dave Stupich.

Mr. Whillam said, "We're the committee to present information to School District 68, on just what the regional college is — sort of an educational committee."

The plebiscite for the regional college in the district will be Sept. 30.

This Monday trustees who have not seen how a college of this type works will be afforded the opportunity, in a trip to Everett, Wash.

The Everett Community College will be studied for application of principles that might be used here.

Another study currently in progress is done by Trustee Drug McKenzie.

He is studying the recreation district, set up in Golden. Recent attempts to unite facilities with the civic properties and recreation have failed, he informed the board.

He said the provincial government has funds for a school-based commission, and an additional $6,000 for administrative costs.

He said if the possibilities and made available to the community at large.

January Target Date For Region Program

DUNCAN — British Columbia will be carved into 27 regional districts and they will all be functioning in seven months.

That was the word from Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, who spoke "in a meeting of island municipal officials here Wednesday."

The minister said his department is against centralized planning, and "I don't want to turn British Columbia into another California."

"How will regional districts affect Indians?" asked Louise Underwood, secretary of the Cowichan Band.

Mr. Campbell told her if they organized into municipalities, they would fully participate. But if they are unorganized, they would not be involved, because they are not definable under the taxation act.

King's Daughters' Hospital board chairman Claude Green asked if Cowichan-Newcastle and the Islands Health Council would be affected by the new regional hospital district ruling.

A few years ago hospitals in these three areas formed a co-operative, but the Gulf Islands under the new system would belong to the Victoria Regional Hospital District.

Mr. Campbell replied the islanders were not very enthusiastic a few years ago when the formation of a regional area with Cowichan was proposed.

He said the islanders are fairly closely tied to the city of Victoria in more than one respect.

John Bateson from the unorganized area south of Duncan wanted to know if certain improvements carried out in a benefit area would have to be paid by the benefit area or by the whole region.

Mr. Campbell said the cost would be borne by the benefit area and not by the region.

Bill Brown of North Cowichan asked if residents living in a subdivision with an existing water system, would have to pay for another water system approved by other taxpayers in that area, and Mr. Campbell said yes, if people in that area have voted for it.

He said 99.5 per cent of the province is unorganized. Many people are "frightened" of organized government.

He said if the possibilities and made available to the community at large.

Canadians Lose Cash In Harmac Judgment

NANAIMO — Officials of Local 8 of the Canadian Pulp Union expressed shock at a Wednesday court judgment, ordering them to pay back $40,000 to the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.

"We tried to do things in a legal way," said Gordon Wickham, president of the local.

Ken Warde, president of the Pulp-Sulphite local, hit by dwindling membership, hailed the judgment.

He claimed Mr. Wickham had said the money would now go to the International, and Mr. Warde countered: "It will stay right here. It will be used for the benefit of members of Local 695."

Mr. Justice Peter Seaton ordered the return of $40,000 to Local 695.

The judgment was against the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada Local 8, the Nanaimo hourly-paid Workers' Benevolent Society and Robert E. Shelley, Gary M. Zolob, Bob Plecas, Gordon Wickham, and K. R. Sheppard, all former Local 695 officers.

The suit involved $40,000 in union funds which had been transferred to the Benevolent Society when the officers broke away from the International and joined the Canadian union.

During the trial, counsel said the men transferred the funds to keep them in control of the members who contributed the money.

However, Mr. Justice Seaton said that the taking of the funds was not justified on any of the grounds put forth.

He said the defendants were dishonest with the membership at meetings in which the benevolent society was incorporated and the switch to Local 8 was made.

They failed to divulge their true purposes and were dishonest with the International union in maintaining their offices while in fact working against the International.

"I hasten to point out that I do not believe that the defendants were serving their own personal advantage in the course they took, but rather thought that they were acting for the benefit of the employees as a whole," the judge said. "Their position within the local was inconsistent with their conduct."

Mr. Warde said "695 will not fold up, regardless of whatever Mr. Wickham might have said."

He said the locals at Woodfibre and Port Mellon both suffered reverses for up to five years.

After that period, they reformed into the old locals, and the money held in trust was returned to the locals, plus interest.

"Local 476 (Gold River) won't go down either," he added.

House, Food Protests Hit Western Mines

CAMPBELL RIVER — Housing, recreation and poor food were the complaints of 100 miners who walked off their jobs at the controversial Western Mines operation at Butte Lake.

A spokesman for the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers which represents the men were protesting company inaction on long-standing complaints.

He said some of the men stopped work complaining the company had not fulfilled its promises to provide housing, recreational facilities and better quality food.

Union and company officials were reported meeting but the company could not immediately be reached for comment.

Gold River Unit Hit by Rivals

GOLD RIVER — Watch out at which gave certification to the Canadian union was "rather a disappointment, but that is the men's vote, and it must be accepted."

"We can only hope they keep the high standards developed by other unions."

Stan Green, vice-president of the International said he is unhappy the Canadian union was picked to represent workers at the mill.

He said the Canadian union faces "a big struggle to secure wages and working conditions to meet the needs of the people."

RETAIN TIES He said International members at Gold River are determined to retain their ties with the union, and a special dues schedule to accommodate them is being worked out.

At Port Alberni rank and file members of the IWA were outspoken.

"Unions today are big league stuff. The internationals have trouble enough during negotiations with 40,000 members backing them."

"I reckon the Canadian union, with only 3,000 or 4,000 members, is in for a bad time when it's time to negotiate again," one long-time member of the IWA put it.

IWA MEMBERS IWA members also expressed concern that the Canadian union had few trained men to act as business agents, no research facilities and no one to handle job evaluations.

The statement by Angus McPhie of the Canadian union that his group was "very satisfied with the attitude of the company" drew cynical smiles from one or two IWA members.

'Branch Campus Must Be in Plebiscite'

COURTENAY — If there is no branch campus, there will be no college, as far as this school board is concerned.

After hours of wrangling, the board voted in favor of a decisive motion which says the branch campus between Courtenay and Campbell River must be a part of the college plebiscite in September.

If it isn't in the vote, the vote will not be supported here.

The vote as presently planned, and as outlined in a brief to the government, specifically puts off building of a branch campus. Main campus would be at Nanaimo.

Trustees are determined to keep alive the concept of a branch campus. They will opt out unless the plebiscite is awarded to their liking.

A special board meeting was marked by disagreement between trustees.

Brian Walker, board representative on the College Co-ordinating Committee, touched on the two letters received last week from the College Advisory Committee and the Electors Association.

Both groups have withdrawn their support for the college. Mr. Walker said, "We have a responsibility to keep this college matter alive until the plebiscite."

He read the wording of the brief to the board, pointing out in particular the portion of the brief which states, "we are in agreement that the initial referendum shall be for building a college at a site adjacent to but north of Nanaimo."

"A referendum for a branch campus in the northern part of the regional college district shall be deferred until after the main campus is established."

Mr. Walker also pointed out the wording of the plebiscite is not yet known, but will be set by the co-ordinating committee soon.

After a series of changes, re-reading and explanations the trustees adopted this motion:

"This board agrees to establishment of a regional college based upon the brief that was accepted by the department of education, PROVIDED that the plebiscite wording will include reference to the branch campus."

In effect this means if the plebiscite wording does not contain this the board will opt out.

Trustees agreed this was instruction to their voting delegates to the co-ordinating committee which meets May 26.

In his reference to the letters, Trustee Walker said they were "based on primitive thinking and quite erroneous."

He told the board he felt it had no alternative but to vote in favor of the college, and that could not be sold to the public while the board was divided.

Logger Is King in Gigantic Holiday Spree

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI — Put on your burling boots, mother, there's a trophy waiting for you!

Traditionally in the Alberni Valley, the Elks put on a sportsman's show to be held in the May holiday weekend.

This year they've come up with a big event, starting Friday at 3:30 p.m. with a sportsman's show to be held in the drill hall.

Retailers, manufacturers, the local fish and game society and the Alberni Valley Rensselaire are combining to show off campers, trailers, boats, tents, fishing gear, hunting supplies, everything to make life outdoors more enjoyable.

Local fire departments will also compete in a bucket brigade competition that dumps up with a dance at the Elks Hall at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Monday's festivities will wind up with a dance at the Elks Hall at 9:30 p.m. Monday, when the lucky winner of the trip to Expo will also be made known. Proceeds from the three days along and picnic, or take in the many concessions that sell hamburgers, hot dogs and other sports-day necessities.

Three well-known Valley residents will be the judges. They'll be Bill Russell, chairman of the central committee, Elks member George McLean and city businessman Jim Skinner.

Pollution Group Will Attend Big Meeting

PORT ALBERNI — The Alberni Valley Citizens' Committee on Pollution will send delegates to the conference on pollution to be held in Vancouver June 5, 6 and 7.

When the Valley group heard that a conference had been called by Dr. Henry M. Rosenthal of the UBC Extension Department in conjunction with the Union of B.C. Municipalities, it fired off a letter expressing concern with pollution, and asked if one or two delegates might attend.

Chairman Colin Wilson said Wednesday a reply from Dr. Rosenthal welcomed participation, and two delegates will be seated at the conference.

The delegates, the doctor said, would have the right to speak during discussion periods, subject to limitations of time.

Dr. Rosenthal also suggested copies of the brief which the citizens committee prepared last year and submitted to the provincial government should be made up, and taken to the conference for the benefit of other delegates.

ALL PLEASED

"We are extremely pleased that they want our brief, apparently after reading a copy which we sent them with our letter," Mr. Wilson said.

"We will also be glad to forward any suggestions or complaints which citizens may have on pollution matters."

"However these must be submitted in writing."

The sports show will be open Friday night and from noon till 11 p.m. Saturday in the big drill hall at the fairgrounds.

Visitors also have a chance to win a trip for two to Expo, with all expenses paid.

Monday the fun begins at Spruce Lake, with the annual loggers sports, classes have been arranged for men, women and children.

Log burling, jousting, log splitting, axe throwing and many other competitions are on the list, as well as nail-driving and log burling for the gentle sex.

The Rescue Squadron will have a display of their equipment and ideas to make outdoor sports more enjoyable and safer, so there will be less likelihood that outdoor enthusiasts will need their services.

The fish and game club will tell visitors where and how to catch bigger and better fish or bring down game more safely and successfully.

New Dump: Sufficient For 100 Years

NANAIMO — The proposed city dump near Harewood was the target for a press tour Wednesday.

The distance is about 4,000 feet from the nearest house, at the end of Cruise Street.

The 113-acre dumping area is in a swampy, 100-foot-deep valley, about two miles long.

The proposed entry to the dump is through property now owned by Wellwood of Canada Limited, off Seventh Street.

HAREWOOD IDEA

It was disclosed the site was originally suggested by Harewood trustees, who informed Nanaimo council members of it.

Nanaimo had been searching for a suitable site for a long time.

One in South Wellington had been considered, but abandoned, when expenses to maintain existing roadways were coupled by a militant attitude against the site, by South Wellington residents.

NO RESIDENCES

The proposed site is not surrounded, or approached by residences, but is between Chase River and Harewood.

Members of the tour felt the prevailing winds would not affect either area.

The party consisted of city engineer Art Leynard, Mayor Pete Maffeo, Ald. Ken Alexander and Gordon MacKay.

It was felt that if the dump was used by the current population of Harewood and Nanaimo it would be 100 years before a new one was needed.

WINTER BURNING

They felt winter burning would probably be utilized to dispose of organic wastes, and land fill would be used for others.

It still has not been determined if enough land fill is available for continuous use.

Land fill use has been considered acceptable by many who oppose the site, on the basis the land could be reclaimed from the swamp.

If burning is necessary, they urge the use of an incinerator.

Russ Inlander, one of the closest residents, claims use of the site would devalue his $35,000 property.

600 ACRES

Some 600 acres of possibly valuable real estate could also suffer a 50-per-cent devaluation, he claimed.

Drawings is the basic problem of dump sites in the area, explained Mr. Leynard after the tour.

He said sites beyond Pleasant Valley would give an abundant amount of land fill from surrounding hills, but all drainage there would either affect wells in the area, or lakes and streams.

The drainage near the proposed site, he felt, would not affect Harewood or Chase River.

Mao's Foes Plotted His Death

Why China's rulers have torn their huge nation apart in so-called "cultural revolution" is explained by top Chinese leaders in their first interviews in two years. They discuss sensational charges of a plot to kill Mao Tse-tung — linked with efforts to turn China to more flexible relations toward Russia and the U.S. This is Simon Malley's fifth exclusive article from inside Peking's Forbidden City.

By SIMON MALLEY
Fifth of 10 Parts

Enemies of Mao Tse-tung plotted to eliminate him last year, by assassination if necessary, top allies of the Chinese Communist party chief told me in Peking, in the first interviews they have given in two years.

In a China where the 73-year-old "father of the nation" is revered as a fount of supreme wisdom, the accusation carries the emotional force of a plot to murder a god.

The alleged plot was described to me by Chen Po-ta, top confidante of Mao, who now presides over the "cultural revolution" campaign to disgrace Mao's enemies and immortalize his tough-minded policies.

Chen Po-ta's account was seconded by Hsieh Fuchai, minister of interior (police and security). Like other top Chinese leaders, they broke the long standing news blackout to receive me in their offices inside the walled, Forbidden City of Peking.

Speaking as leading supporters of Mao in the internal struggle, they told me that Stalin's enemies "probably murdered" the Soviet leader, and that they think Mao's would-be rivals for power in China planned the same fate for him.

The overthrow was scheduled for February, 1966, on the 10th anniversary of Soviet ex-Premier Nikita Khrushchev's historic denunciation of Stalin, Chen Po-ta said.

Recalling that no one in Russia dared challenge Stalin while he lived, the quiet-spoken, deliberate Chen Po-ta drew a direct parallel to Mao's China.

'Great Leap' Ridiculed

"Likewise," said Chen Po-ta, "the plot in China developed along the same line, with the same intentions. The traitors could not succeed as long as Mao Tse-tung remained the red sun shining most brightly in our hearts and guiding our revolution."

Mao's allies accuse China's President Liu Shao-chi of plotting the overthrow, together with Teng Hsiao-peng, secretary general of the Communist Party, and Peng Chen, ex-mayor of Peking.

At stake, they told me, was not only China's internal program as an all-out rigid Communist state, but also China's active pursuit of eventual world revolution.

(The once-honored Liu, an old comrade of Mao, favored different tactics on the road to the goal all shared — to build a powerful China.)

Chen said the plotters used plays, films, legends and fables to ridicule Mao Tse-tung and especially his all-out economic effort known as the Great Leap Forward.

Legendary stories about ancient China were told to sell the idea that "the Leap Forward was a total economic disaster because it was based on economic improvisation... devised by leaders who were amnesia, fools or imbeciles..." Chen said.

When they had discredited and ousted Mao Tse-tung, the plotters planned to install Peng Chen as party chairman. They intended to replace Premier Chou En-lai and replace him with Teng Hsiao-peng.

Hong Kong

Posters Replace Rioting

From AP-Reuters

HONG KONG — Eight hundred Chinese marched on the British government house in Hong Kong today and plastered posters on its walls and gates while singing Communist Chinese songs and chanting quotations of Mao Tse-tung.

Police and military sentries maintained guard at the gate and inside the courtyard. Police tried to dissuade the demonstrators from putting up their posters, but there were no clashes. The demonstrators started putting up the posters after the British colonial governor, Sir David Trench, did not personally accept their protests of what they called persecution of Hong Kong's Chinese.

FOURTH DAY
Anti-British demonstrations continued in Peking for the fourth straight day in support of the anti-British Chinese in Hong Kong.

Demonstrators paraded outside the British legation in the Chinese capital and an official of the legation, reached by telephone from Tokyo, said there was no attempt to invade the grounds. He said Chinese police kept watch at the legation.

Britain protested Tuesday the failure of the Chinese government to protect British personnel and property in Peking and Shanghai against demonstrators. The British consular offices in Shanghai were sealed.

100 INJURED
On Wednesday, 50 police and as many rioters and spectators had been injured here.

Meanwhile, hordes of Chinese chanting anti-British slogans marched past the British mission in Peking Wednesday in a fresh protest against the handling of the Hong Kong riots.

Anthony Grey, Reuters news agency correspondent in the Chinese capital, said the numbers seemed even greater than the 400,000 who marched past the mission Tuesday. He said the total appeared likely to reach 1,000,000 by the end of the day.

Second Sick Child, Mother in Hiding

VANCOUVER (CP) — A second Jehovah's Witness youngster requiring treatment that may involve blood transfusions has gone into hiding with his mother, resulting in fears by welfare officials that there could be a panic among parents in the religious sect.

Gregory Gordon Standal, 5, was taken from hospital in neighboring North Vancouver Saturday by his mother, Frances Standal, a 26-year-old divorcee.

Gordon is suffering a kidney ailment similar to that of Miriam Myllyniemi, 15, who fled hospital in Vancouver May 9 to avoid further blood transfusions.

DENIED CARE
Donald Bingham, provincial superintendent of child welfare, said in an interview Wednesday that current panic among Jehovah's Witnesses could lead to all the sect's children being denied medical care.

He said such a move could result in lesser illnesses becoming serious.

"Something must be done to halt what is becoming a serious tragedy," he said.

WON'T TAKE CHANCE
Mrs. Standal said she wants her son to get the care he needs but "I dare not take a chance on hospitals here and my losing custody because the doctors want to give him a transfusion."

She was referring to a family court decision last Friday that awarded custody of Miriam to the Children's Aid Society to ensure she would get treatment. Dorothy Myllyniemi of Penticton, Miriam's mother, had applied to the court for custody of her child.

COULD ADVANCE
In Miriam's case, doctors said her condition could be fatal if she is not treated within a month for the ailment known as uremia. Doctors said Gordon may lose one kidney and that infection may advance to the other if he is not treated within a week.

UN Asked to Leave

ARABS SET FOR BATTLE

UN Troops 'Won't Budge'

OTTAWA (CP)—The United Nations Emergency Force in Egypt will not budge from its present positions, a highly placed source said Wednesday.

The source said it would be foolish for the force to give in after more than 10 years of keeping the peace on the Israeli-Egyptian border.

CAIRO (Reuters)—Tension rose throughout the Middle East today as the United Arab Republic and two other Arab countries put their armed forces on combat readiness for possible clashes with Israel.

The U.A.R. ordered land, sea and air forces into a state of "fighting preparedness" and at the same time Wednesday asked the United Nations to pull back its peacekeeping force from the U.A.R.-Israeli frontier to clear the way for possible fighting.

At the UN in New York, UN Secretary-General U Thant said that if Egypt demanded the withdrawal of the UN force it would have to leave. He described the situation as "potentially very grave" and said he was seeking clarification of the U.A.R.'s attitude towards the UN force. (See also page 23)

TRIP CANCELLED

Thant cancelled a trip to London and Brussels because of what he called "the potentially very grave" situation in the Middle East.

Canada has 800 men in the UN Emergency Force which has operated in the U.A.R. near the Israeli border for 10 years. There are contingency plans for fast evacuation of the Canadians on UN duty in the Middle East in an emergency.

The Associated Press reported from Cairo that today's edition of the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram says the Yugoslav contingent of the UN force moved out early Wednesday. In New York, a UN headquarters official said there had been no withdrawal of any UN forces from the armistice line up to late Wednesday afternoon, New York time.

'DANGEROUS'

Meanwhile, it was announced in Israel that Premier Levi Eshkol discussed the "dangerous significance" of the Arab buildup during a meeting of Parliament's foreign affairs and security committee.

Radványi

Hungary Envoy Defects

WASHINGTON (UPI)—János Radványi, Hungary's ranking diplomat in the U.S., has asked and will be granted asylum in the United States, the state department announced Wednesday. Radványi, 45, Hungary's charge d'affaires here since 1962, is the first chief of a Communist diplomatic mission in this country to defect.

State department press officer Robert McCloskey said Radványi decided he wanted to become a permanent resident of the United States.

IT'S TRADITIONAL

"Our position will be in accordance with the American tradition of extending refuge to those who seek it," McCloskey said. State department sources said Radványi had defected for "personal as well as political reasons," but did not elaborate.

Radványi could not be reached for comment. An official at the Hungarian embassy said he was not there.

As Hungary's ranking diplomatic official in this country, and as a member of Hungary's foreign service since 1947 and a member of the Hungarian Communist party for some 25 years, Radványi presumably has a wealth of information of interest on Hungary's internal affairs and foreign relations.

Ready, Girls?

Nothing's Plain About Montcalm

By ALAN HARVEY

PARIS (Special) — A latter-day Montcalm is heading for Canada, bent on peaceful conquest.

He is Charles, Marquis de Montcalm, seventh in direct descent from the famous General who fought and died on the Plains of Abraham. A Paris financier, he has heard about Canada's Centennial celebrations and plans a tourist trip this summer. His brother, Count Robert, is going separately.

'Too Sleepy?'

The marquis will visit Quebec City, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and probably Niagara Falls. Meanwhile, expert restorers at Versailles are refurbishing priceless Montcalm relics for display in Canada, and the marquis asks what Toronto is doing to compete with Montreal.

"Is Toronto too sleepy?" he inquires playfully. "What are you going to do to compare with Expo? Why have you let yourselves be short-circuited by Montreal?"

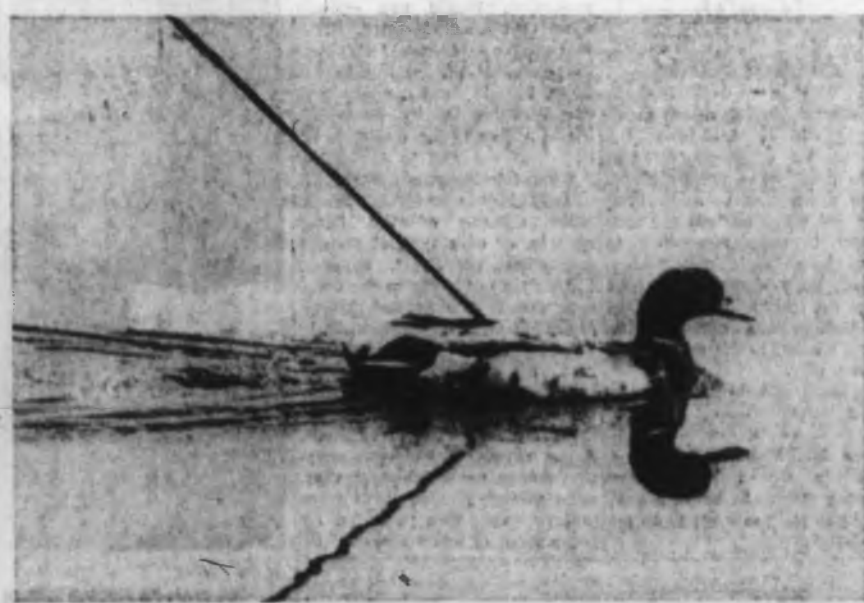

In the same lighthearted way, the marquis offers a challenge to Canadian womanhood. A wealthy bachelor, with a chateau in the south of France and a household of history stowed away at his Paris apartment on the Avenue Rodin, he hopes to pick out a "jeune petite Canadienne" during his trip. Finding a wife, he says, is indispensable.

The marquis is slender, dark and dapper. He is reticent about age and occupation, but looks about 45 and dabbles in business and finance. He speaks vivaciously, darting quick glances around him. Seen in profile, sitting at ease in a Paris hotel lobby, he might easily turn back the clock and the centuries, reminding the impressionable interviewer of Canadian history's most gallant loser, the proud and polished aristocrat, incorruptibly devoted to Crown and country, who commanded French armies in a battle that decided the mastery of a continent.

Rebel Gordon Mulling Martyr's Role

By RON COLLISTER

Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Vietnam rebel Walter Gordon is pondering if he can stay in the cabinet after Wednesday's humiliation at the hands of both the cabinet and the party caucus.

"He may be in the mood to make a martyr of himself," a party source said Wednesday night.

But the general feeling was that there is no limit to the number of rebuffs that Mr. Gordon can absorb and that he will hold on and fight.

Mr. Gordon, faced with his great decision, went to Expo in Montreal to get lost in the crowds and to think about it.

Prime Minister Pearson warned him twice, first at the cabinet's and then in the caucus, that it he didn't agree with government policy he must quit.

It was spelled out, too, that if he disagrees publicly again he will be out of the cabinet, period.

The cabinet rebuff was easier for Mr. Gordon to swallow than the rebuff given him at the caucus.

Mr. Pearson, with Mr. Gordon present, told the rank-and-file of the party that the rebel minister must go along with policy or quit.

Mr. Gordon, according to reports, paled, but did not say anything in his defence.

Member after member rose and complained about the difficulties he had created in his policy split with the cabinet.

This was the issue, cabinet solidarity, not the war in Vietnam, which is loathed with equal intensity by most members of the cabinet and the caucus.

The caucus was Mr. Gordon's traditional source of strength. But this time no one rose to defend him.

Mr. Gordon was called "a

One Drive Being Discussed

Area May Fill Bigger Chest

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

One enormous annual drive to consolidate all district fund-raising appeals, eliminate tag days and generally tidy up the whole money-raising situation is the target of meetings being held in Victoria.

Meetings will be held in future weeks to try to work out a plan which would have the blessings of not only the business community but the civic governments of the district.

Reluctant to talk while meetings and negotiations were still in progress, fund-raising officials were nevertheless hopeful Wednesday that some of the larger independent agencies may soon be merged with the Community Chest's United Appeal.

If some of them were hesitant about coming into the appeal as members, it was pointed out, a whole new organization could be formed into which they might come as partners.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to many organizations in the city, has gone on record as favoring the United Appeal approach.

Twenty-one organizations are encompassed in the appeal which set an objective of $452,000 in 1966 and raised $452,026.

On the outside are about a dozen other independent groups, some of which conduct major fund drives. Included are the Polio and Rehabilitation Foundation (Mothers' March), the Heart Fund, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, B.C. Society for Crippled Children (Easter Seals), TB (Christmas Seals), Harbor Lights Special Dinner, the Colonist 500 Fund and the Times Unitarian Services Committee.

Largest of these are the Red Cross, which has set a 1967 goal of $80,000, and the Salvation Army.

Meetings have been held over the year with the intention of consolidating the fund-raising efforts of these major organizations with the United Appeal, but with no success so far. Negotiations are still in progress.

Attitude of the area's civic leaders toward the problem was indicated in a statement issued recently from the office of Mayor Hugh Stephen, which said:

"The Reeves and I are deeply concerned by the duplication of effort involved in the multiplicity of fund-raising campaigns in the Greater Victoria area."

Present unco-ordinated methods wasted time and human material resources, the statement said.

Organizations consolidating under the United Appeal would render signal service to the community and relieve citizens of the frustrations encountered under the present situation, the mayor said, and to facilitate co-ordination, a registration bureau had been established. Details of appeals should be recorded at the various municipal halls in the district.

LABOR AGREES
Another group which has lent its support to the united appeal principle is the Victoria Labor Council.

Among the advantages of a single appeal, listed in the chamber of commerce letter, were: A reduction in the heavy burden on community leaders and volunteer workers who now are called upon to carry out or support one major campaign a month.

Lower campaign and administrative costs, thus leaving more for charitable contributions.

Nobody knows
The municipality plan for registration of details of fund-raising drives was lauded by veteran Victoria workers in the field, who said that at present nobody seemed to know just what was going on.

It was impossible to get details of who was raising money when, and what was taken in, let alone the costs of administration. Proper registration would bring the whole question into focus, even if it didn't provide a solution for the overlapping of costs and efforts.

Noted Physicist Research Chief

Dr. William N. English, a physicist well-known in Victoria's scientific circles, was appointed Wednesday as acting chief superintendent of the Canadian Defence Research Board.

He was with the Pacific Naval Laboratory's marine physics section here, heading it for a number of years and acting as laboratory superintendent, before he went to the Bedford Institute of Oceanography in 1960.

He rejoined the Defence Research Board, of which PNL is an agency, in 1964 as superintendent of the electronics wing at the Canadian Armament Research and Development Establishment, Valcartier, Que.

Dr. English, married with three children, obtained his bachelor of science degree in physics and mathematics from University of British Columbia.

He received a doctorate in physics from the University of California in 1952. He is well-known for his research in acoustics, electromagnetics and fluid dynamics.

B.C. Decrees Pay For Eight Holidays

The B.C. labor department Wednesday issued its first order requiring employers to pay workers for eight statutory holidays a year.

The order, effective Aug. 1, requires employers to give a day off with pay for New Year's Day, Good Friday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Remembrance Day, Christmas Day and "any day substituted for any such holiday."

It applies to all workers except those who have paid holidays under collective agreements, employees who are exempt from the Male and Female Minimum Wage Acts by government regulation and several types of salesmen.

"This," said Labor Minister Peterson, "is a further advance in the labor board's program to raise standards for employees in the province."

Housing Grants

Indian Help Welcome But Scant

A former chief of the East Saanich Indian band said Wednesday night that Ottawa had good intentions in offering housing grants to Canadian treaty Indians who live away from reserves, but he feared the money allocated for this purpose was not enough.

Edwin Underwood, 7785 Patricia Bay Highway, the 67-year-old leader who recently stepped down after 10 years as chief of his band, was commenting on the off-reserve housing program which was announced Tuesday in the Commons by Indian Affairs Minister Laing.

Mr. Laing said a revolving $1,000,000 Indian affairs fund would provide a continual supply of money for a program offering housing grants up to $6,000 and $1,000 furniture grants to treaty Indians.

BEST LAND

Mr. Underwood was born on the reserve and has lived there ever since. He personally sees no reason why Indians should leave the reserves, which he says contain some of the most desirable land there is.

But he said he thought it would be "very nice" if Ottawa gave off-reserve Indians "a chance to get a start in life and get a good job."

"They're trying to do their level best to improve our people," he said.

HELP RESERVES

Mr. Underwood said that if the money was to be divided among all of Canada's Indians, it would be "splitting it pretty thin and there's not going to be very much."

He said many changes had taken place in the last 10 years and that the Indian's lot was bound to change more in the years ahead, but that some Indians would continue living on reserves and the government "should concentrate more on improving living conditions on the reserves."

Shirtsleeves, Shorts Make Scene

Shirtsleeves and shorts made the scene Wednesday as the temperature rose to 68.

Although considerably higher than the temperature of 58 for May 17 last year, it was quite a few degrees from the record high of 78.9 for May 17, 1956.

Today's forecast is for more of the same.

At Inquest

Safety Check Urged

A coroner's jury recommended the supervision of children's slides and the checking of safety features on park equipment Wednesday night in an inquest into the death of Bonnie Lynn Bandolan.

Bonnie, 11, died Friday in St. Joseph's Hospital after falling from a slide at Topaz Park May 2.

At the inquest, playmate Jill Armstrong, 9, said that Bonnie, in attempting to slide head first on her stomach caught her foot on a rail near the top of the slide. In trying to free herself, she fell, striking her head on the gravel below.

NO HEAD FRACTURE

When admitted to hospital she was found by intern Dr. David King to be fully alert and conscious, with only her wrist hurt.

Later, she developed convulsions, but when X-rayed there was no evidence of a skull fracture.

Her condition worsened and she underwent several operations.

Pathologist Dr. Bruce Hay, in his post-mortem, concluded death by severe brain damage, with the contributing factor of bronchial pneumonia.

The jury attached no blame to the accidental death.

Council Hears Strike Report

Victoria's Labor Council heard a report Wednesday on the fishermen's strike that has B.C. trawl vessels shorebound.

Albert Ogden, business representative of the fishermen's union, told council delegates his union is prepared to stand fast in the nine-week-old strike, in spite of a 48-page injunction ordering shoreworkers to load vessels with fish.

He suggested civil disobedience seemed to be the only way to fight injunctions.

Wreck-Hunting

Landing Barge Start For Coast Adventure

By BOB PETHICK

Some people irreverently call it the ark, but to builder Patrick Hancock, the 48-foot solid-iron-steam-to-stern landing-barge replica represents nearly two years of hard work and the beginning of an adventure-wreck-hunting.

"I've read everything there is to read about the West Coast. There are dozens of wrecks," says Mr. Hancock, who is obviously anxious to get on with the launching.

In the back yard of the farm at 4530 Cheeseman, the big craft looms, nearing completion. He literally plans to sell his farm and go to sea.

LANDING CRAFT

"We went down to the States to try to buy a landing craft. We could have bought one cheap, but we weren't allowed to bring it into Canada," he said.

Skipper Hancock also looked over some landing craft owned by a Prince Rupert pulp mill, but the mill wouldn't sell. "They are all made of wood and lying around there rotting," he said.

WEST KELP

The West Kelp, as the barge is officially known, is a smaller replica of a regular landing craft.

"The last ones we looked at, we took some pretty close measurements. One advantage of a smaller craft is it is able to manoeuvre easier among the rocks," he said.

Along with two diving friends, Tony French and Dean Whetton, Jr., and Mr. Hancock's son, Russell, 28, the first expedition to the west coast is planned as soon as shakedown cruise is completed.

TWO MONTHS

They are hoping to get two months on the job—"that is, if we don't have to go into Port Renfrew or somewhere and wait for weather," said Mr. Hancock.

What finds are made will be offered to the B.C. Maritime Museum.

But all this is in the future.

Jaycee Fair Draws Better Than in '66

The Jaycee Fair drew 10,760 people Wednesday, bringing the total attendance to 36,010—up 700 from last year.

Esquimalt was specially honored Wednesday when Com. Edward DeCosta was awarded a plaque in appreciation of the municipality's co-operation over the years.

Today is Oak Bay Day.

Also today, from 2 to 7 p.m., children will be treated to reduced rates on rides. Children under 12 will be admitted to the fair free.

At 3 p.m., entertainers from the fair will perform at the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Wednesday they put on a show at the Veterans' Hospital. Judging of Centennial beards will begin at 8 p.m. today.
